MANY FAVOR PAYING DEBT BEFORE CUT

Bankers Express Selves for CONGRESS FOR REBATE

Economists Say Government
Costs Grow Less as U.
S. Debt Is Paid

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1926 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—President Coolidge
now has definitely committed himself to the idea of a tax credit which shall apply on income tax payments made next year. The president's viewpoint officially expressed coincides with that of Secretary Mellon but pointedly leaves the working out of details to the house of representatives whose constitutional function it is to originate revenue laws.

There is evidence that notwithstanding the position taken by both the president and the secretary of the treasury, many bankers and economists have written in to say that all the surplus should be used to retire the public debt instead of being refunded.
MANY FAVOR DEBT PAYMENT
While the number who represent this school of thought may be small in comparison to the larger number who want a tax rebate of some kind,
the significance of these communications
is that the matter of public debt retirement is every day winning converts. Back of the idea is the argument that every dollar of public debt retired means less interest charges and that as the fixed charges of the government diminish the budgetary requirements of the treasury will correspondingly be decreased.

But the president has taken his stand on the side of a credit. He has not indicated, however, how much shall go back to the taxpayer and how much shall go for debt retirement. A determined effort may be made by a group in congress to apply more money to debt retirement than has been contemplated. The trend of opinion in congress, however, is unmistakably in the direction of applying all the above sinking fund requirements to the rebate plan.

REQUEST FUND FOR PROHIBITION UNIT

Andrews Before Appropriations Committee With Budget
for Year

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Officials of the prohibition unit had their turn Thursday in the long line of government employees to appear before the committee on appropriations in the house of representatives.

The calling cards of such visitors set forth estimated requirements of their respective departments for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, and the card given to the prohibition unit was that of Assistant Secretary Andrew of the treasury, the nation's chief. It represents the minimum amount of money with which the administration feels the prohibition enforcement machinery can be maintained during the next fiscal period.
The sum, determined after careful scrutiny at the treasury, and then by the budget bureau, has been kept as carefully guarded secret.

There are indications, however, that the figure approximates the amount requested and subsequently appropriated by congress for the current 12 months period—about $15,000,000.
This amount is exclusively from maintenance of the prohibition unit.

SENTENCE 9 MEMBERS OF MOB IN GEORGIA

Douglas, Ga.—(AP)—Nine white members of a mob that removed David Wright, a white man, from the county jail last August and lynched him are to spend terms in prison varying from four years to life. They were sentenced Wednesday after pleading guilty of murder.

Major Brown, brother-in-law of the woman for whose death Wright was held, received a life sentence, the first imposed in a lynching case in the state's history. He pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial of 13 men and women charged with the murder.
Bullard, one of the defendants, turned state's evidence and was kept away from court.

NEW PLANS BEING MADE FOR ST. PAUL RAILROAD

New York.—(AP)—An important step in the re-organization of the St. Paul railway was completed here Thursday when a new company, to be known as Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad company, was organized to succeed the present railway company
now in receivership.

TURKS DANCE WHERE GRAND VIZERS ONCE GAVE ROYAL EDICTS

Constantinople.—(AP)—Imperial tradition again has received a rude blow from modern Turkey.
For one night the Sublime Porte,
the famous edifice from which grand viziers once hurled their decrees, was transformed into a dancing hall.

The governor of Constantinople, Suleman Sami Bey, chose this historic relic of the old regime as the place in which to give a ball celebrating the third anniversary of the new republican regime. Therefore the Sublime Porte resounded for one extraordinary night with the jazz of an American Negro band and the sound of the feet of hundreds of couples, the elite of Constantinople society, shuffling
in the Charleston.

One of the most noteworthy features of this occasion was the fact that Mme. Sami Bey, unveiled in full evening dress received in line with her husband, the governor and other officials. This was the first time that a Turkish woman had ever been in the reception line of an official affair.

SHOW CAROL'S LOVE LETTERS IN ZIZI'S SUIT

Former Morganatic Wife of Ex-Crown Prince Sues
for Huge Sum

Paris.—(AP)—Love letters of Carol of Rumania, to Zizi Lambino are part of the evidence before a court which is trying her suit against the former crown prince.

"She seeks ten million francs, damages and desires that her six-year-old son shall have the name of Hohenzollern—that of the Rumanian royal household. She was formerly Carol's morganatic wife. The marriage was annulled by the Rumanian parliament in 1921.

In 1921 Carol married Princess Helen of Greece by whom he had a son, but later he left her and departed from Rumania with a Madame Magda Lupescu, the auburn-haired daughter of a Jewish merchant of Jassy.

"My heart's own darling, you know that you are the only woman in the world for me," wrote Carol to Mme.
Lambino after the annulment.

BEGGED QUEEN'S HELP
Carol wrote Queen Marie his mother, begging her to permit him to keep Zizi as his wife. Said the letter:
"Dear Mama: I cannot have Zizi left in this ridiculous and equivocal position, and never could I admit that the child to be born out of our marriage should be considered illegitimate."

Mme. Lambino's lawyer said this letter was never answered.

When ordered to the frontier to guard against possible Hungarian Bolsheviki, Carol wrote Zizi: "Before I go to the front I want you to know that I have made all arrangements for you.
Separation is very hard for me. If I only could get leave to come home for a short time I could make things better for you."

On another occasion Carol wrote, "I shall always consider you as my wife in spite of everything." Long after he and Zizi had been parted by the parliamentary decree he wrote: "I always remember our luminous days together, but the chain is broken. Love of country has forced my hand. Yes, my poor little dear I am betrothed—
to a princess."

OHIO PHYSICIAN KILLED AT WHEEL OF AUTOMOBILE

Stuebenville, O.—(AP)—Dr. J. L. Dol-

slain at the wheel of his automobile
early Thursday in Brookeco, W. Va., about three miles from here. The physician's body was pierced by four bullets.

QUEEN MARIE TO LEAVE U. S. AT ONCE

U. S. IS ASKED TO GIVE HELP TO NICARAGUA

President Diaz Requests
Washington to Aid in Curbing Mexicans

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A direct accusation that Mexico has invaded the sovereign rights of Nicaragua was injected into Mexican-American relations Thursday by the new Nicaraguan president, Adolfo Diaz.

Appealing to the United States for aid the central American statesman brought officially before the Washington government, for the first time,
the delicate question of gunrunning between Mexican shores and the camps of the Nicaraguan revolutionists.

Involved in the problem, is an accumulation of evidence pointing to Bolshevist influences, and hinting at a possible Bolshevik combination which would overlap the southern Mexican border into Central American and toward the Panama canal.

NAVAL FORCES MAY HELP
The state department already has possession of many important facts supporting charges that the Mexican government itself is winking at the interference of its nationals in Nicaragua.
What will be done to aid President Diaz remains to be determined,
but one of the possibilities is an order to American naval forces to help the Diaz government repel Mexican gun running ships from Nicaraguan shores.

President Diaz request for intervention reached the state department through Lawrence Dennis, the American minister at Managua.

HARBORS BODY TAKES STAND ON U. S. BILL

Condemns Chicago Water
Steal; H. S. Wells, DePere, Elected Director

Buffalo, N. Y.—(AP)—The Great Lakes Harbors association of the United States and Canada Wednesday went on record as opposed to the rivers and harbors bill now pending before the senate unless it is amended to eliminate all reference to Illinois and the Chicago Sanitary district.

This stand was incorporated in a resolution passed at the closing session of the organizations' convention in which the diversion of water by Chicago into its drainage canal was roundly condemned as a bold theft and a violation of a treaty with Canada.

William George Bruce of Milwaukee was re-elected President of the association. Directors elected H. S. Wells, DePere; Martin Gorgensen, Manitowish; William G. McCune, Petoskey; Mich; Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Milwaukee, and E. A. Larson, Sheboygan.

BELIEVED SELF FAILURE; AUTHOR IS FOUND DEAD

London.—(AP)—A failure, in his own opinion, although several of his works had been declared successes, Allen Upward, 63, lawyer and author,
is dead. His body was found Wednesday in his residence near Wimborne with a bullet wound through the heart—presumably self-inflicted.
He suffered from periodical attacks
of severe depression says the Daily Express and more than a year ago wrote to a friend saying the end had come and that when the friend got the letter he would be dead. Shortly afterwards the author was picked up by a roadside exhausted. His best work is considered to have been The Domino Club, which was praised by reviewers and brought offers for film and dramatic rights.

CORN HUSKING HONORS TO ILLINOIS CHAMPION

Fremont, O.—(AP)—The corn husking championship of the world has been returned to the tall corn state by Fred Stanek of Fort Dodge, Iowa, who also held the title in 1924.
By husking 22.25 net bushels of corn in 30 minutes here Wednesday, Stanek dethroned Elmer Williams, the "praying husker" of Illinois, who finished next to the last in the field of twelve contestants from seven corn belt states. Williams, however, still holds the world record of 35.3 bushels which he established last year when he won the crown.

WANTS VACCINATION FOR DOGS IN NEW YORK CITY

New York.—(AP)—Health Commissioner Harris wants all dogs vaccinated because of an increase of rabies. In tests of 365 dogs, 200 cases of the disease were found; in the last six months 7,000 persons in the city have been bitten.

Santa Claus Writes Again To Say He'll Visit Here

All good boys and girls and men and women of Appleton will be happy to know that Santa Claus himself is going to pay us a visit. And he may be here within the next week, according to his own letter, the second one we've received from him. This time the envelope was a brilliant green and it carried the same Nome, Alaska postmark, coming by dog sled from Cringale valley.

Yes, sir, Santa will be here in person, but only for a short visit. He says the reason he is coming is that there are so many things for so many more boys and girls this year that he has decided to make one trip in advance of Christmas. On that trip he will bring many things which he will leave at Appleton stores so they can be shown up to Christmas time. Then he will call for them again and distri-

MIDWEST IS COVERED BY SNOW TODAY

Storm Warnings Displayed on Great Lakes as Early Blizzard Rages

Chicago.—(AP)—Snow-laden clouds roofed the central west Thursday and moved eastward before gusty winds that brought a record-breaking November snowfall out of the northwest.
Corn belt temperatures went down to turn rain into snow, and flurries became small blizzards before winds which approached gale velocities in some localities.

Warnings were displayed on all the Great Lakes except Ontario, as the storm center swept Thursday into Illinois from the southwest where it took snow and freezing temperatures.

ST. LOUIS IS BLANKETED
The passing of the wave left St.
Louis with more than five inches of snow by midnight Wednesday night.
There were falls of as much as six inches in Illinois and weather bureau
throughout the region measured snow depths unprecedented for the month.
There were three deaths in Chicago indirectly attributed to the storm. An unidentified woman, blinded by snow walked in front of a street car, a teamster drove into a fallen high voltage wire and A. Vernon Smith, switchman for the Nickel Plate railroad, was killed when, shielding his face from the driving snow, he stumbled into the path of a train.

Lower temperatures prevailed generally Thursday over the midwest.
The weather bureau promised slightly rising thermometers Thursday.

PREDICUS COLD WEATHER
Milwaukee.—(AP)—Falling temperatures accompanied by widespread precipitation, snow in the northern part of the state and rain in the south were predicted by W. P. Stewart, meteorologist. Temperatures in northern Wisconsin will probably fall to 10 degrees while 20 degrees will be the reading in southern Wisconsin. A storm, which had its beginning in the lower Mississippi valley, is slowly moving straight north. High winds prevail over the Lake region, reaching a velocity of 44 miles per hour on the upper lakes. At 7:30 the temperature here was 30.

KESHENA DAM PROJECT IS APPROVED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Directing that the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. replace as far as practicable all scenic features along the Wolf river which might be destroyed by erection of a reservoir, the Federal Power commission issued a license Thursday for the project.

The company proposes erection in Shavano-co of a dam to back water up to Keshena Falls, within the Menominee Indian reservation, and it had been protested. Indians will be reimbursed for any damage to their properties.

House Of David Plans To Carry Case To U.S. Court

Benton Harbor, Mich.—(AP)—Extended litigation, regarding the House of David appeared possible Thursday.
Attorneys for Benjamin Purnell, leader of the cult, who was captured in a surprise raid on the colony Wednesday, say their defense of Purnell against charges of individuals and the state of Michigan will be carried to the highest courts.

H. T. Dowhirst, former California superior court judge now a member of the colony, and W. J. Barnard of Faw Paw, chief counsel, say that Purnell went into seclusion four years ago because he could not obtain a fair trial.

The king was resting among his people Thursday. Bail of $120,000 was given on charges of criminal assault preferred by two former girl members of the colony. The bond was signed by eight local merchants.

Besides criminal charges, Purnell faces action by the state which seeks to disband the colony. Members of the colony doubt whether their leader
will live to see the end of the litigation into which he and the colony are plunged because of his present ill health.

TO TAKE FIRST SHIP LEAVING AT NEW YORK

King's Illness Is Given as Cause of Sudden Change
in Her Plans

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Queen Marie will go direct to New York when she leaves Louisville Thursday night and will sail for home on the first available steamer.

Marie called in her official family
and American advisers Friday morning just before she began a tour of Louisville and told of her wish to abandon all features of the remainder of her tour.

Princess Hleana will accompany the queen to New York while Prince Nicholas is visiting Detroit and Cleveland during the next two days. Exact schedules for both trips have not yet been completed.

CANCELS ENGAGEMENTS
Queen Marie cancelled all official and social functions scheduled for the remainder of her tour.

Cable advices, which were not made public by Marie, but which were understood to have recorded a serious development in the king's illness, caused her majesty to announce Wednesday night soon after leaving Indianapolis that most of the remainder of the tour would be abandoned.

EXPRESSED BY GREETINGS
The good nature with which the royal entourage was greeted at Indianapolis stood out in her majesty's memory of a day crowded with incidents, beginning with leave takings
at Chicago and ending with the banquet which lasted so late as to delay
ten minutes the departure for Louisville. The royal party, arriving Wednesday when Prince Nicholas and Princess Hleana motored to Indianapolis from Chicago, forsaking the royal train, was reunited. Hleana had a minor accident at Grand Park, Ill., stopped at Rossville, Ill., and barn-stormed over muddy roads of eastern Illinois and western Indiana in a mountainous rainstorm. Her mud besplattered car, scarred by its accident
finally pulled into Indianapolis.

ITALIAN ACE WINS ALL U. S. HONORS

De Bernardi Receives Congratulations at White House

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Major Mario De Bernardi, the "Flying Façist" who is taking all of America's seaplane records back to Premier Mussolini, came to Washington Thursday to receive with him team mates the personal congratulations of President Coolidge on his victory in the recent Schneider cup races at Norfolk, Va.

In that contest he eclipsed the world record established by American racers
by driving the little red Macchi-Fiat monoplane provided for him by the Italian premier at an average speed of 246.49 miles an hour for the 320
kilometer course, 243.153 for the 100
kilometer closed circuit, and 245.0033
for the 200 kilometer closed circuit.

That left only one speed record for seaplanes officially credited to America, the 245.713 mark set in 1925 by Lieut. James H. Doolittle of the army, for the three kilometer course. So, Wednesday he dashed over it four times at speeds ranging from 243.232 miles an hour against the wind to 272.132 with the wind, and his official average 258.873, gave himself something else to be congratulated about.

HOPE TO FIND BODIES OF LOST MINERS SOON

Islepiening, Mich.—(AP)—Within a day or two, workers expect to enter the first level of the Barnes Hecker mine where 51 men recently lost their lives when the mine was flooded.
Pumps have emptied the shaft of water to the top of the level, with only ten feet remaining in the shaft before sand will be struck. Debris has been removed and early finding of many bodies is looked forward to by the mine officials.

MILITARISTS FORCE CABINET TO RESIGN

Santiago, Chile.—(AP)—The militarists won their point when the Chilean cabinet, acting on the "suggestion" of Minister of War Ibanez, agreed to resign. It was not a complete victory for the minister of war, however, because the other ministers refused to resign unless he did likewise. This he finally decided to do. It is reported that Anibal Letelier, former minister of instruction, will endeavor to form a new cabinet. Senior Ibanez recommended the formation of a new cabinet to check communistic propaganda.

COAST LINE RAILROAD VOTES EXTRA DIVIDEND

New York.—(AP)—Directors of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad Thursday declared an extra dividend of $1.50 on the common stock in addition to the usual semi-annual payment of $2.50 a share. A similar extra was voted last April, making total payments for the year $10 a share. Disbursements last year aggregated $9 a share and in 1924, $8 a share.

PROPOSE NEW PROGRAM TO REDUCE TAXES

Provides for Permanent Reduction of $325,000,000
on Incomes

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A tax program contemplating a permanent reduction of $325,000,000 was agreed upon Thursday by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democratic member of the congressional committee handling tax legislation.

The plan would lower the corporation income tax from 13 1/2 to 11 per cent less, and would repeal the excise taxes.

Senator Simmons held that the total reduction might safely be increased to $400,000,000 and suggested that the tobacco tax be slightly modified and surtaxes levied on incomes between $30,000 and $50,000.

GEORGE STERLING, POET, KILLS SELF BY POISON

San Francisco.—(AP)—The eternal mystery of after life which for two decades had gripped the fancy of George Sterling, poet, dramatist and disheveled of Ambrose Bierce, and furnished him countless themes to work upon, enveloped him in death Thursday.

For reasons wholly unknown to his friends, the writer took poison as he lay ill here Wednesday, turned his face to the wall and died.

As Bierce, regarded in his time one of the most original of American short story writers, met his death in a mysterious way in Mexico, so went Sterling, who often proclaimed Bierce as his master. It was said Sterling always carried a bottle of poison with him for use when he felt the temptation to die. Sterling's most notable work includes The Wine of Wizards and The House of Orchids.

GOVERNOR-ELECT ABSENT; BADGER BOARD ADJOURNS

Madison.—(AP)—Declaring that further time spent by the board of public affairs in considering budgets for the coming year would be "a waste of time" because of the absence of Governor-Elect R. Zimmerman, Governor John J. Blaine Thursday announced that the board would adjourn at noon.
The new governor would not be bound by decisions of the board and has failed to attend any sessions of the board this week Governor Blaine said.

LITTLE WILL DIRECT WAUSAU WINTER FROLIC

Wausau.—(AP)—George W. Little,
Madison, athletic director of the state university, Thursday consented to direct the Wausau winter frolic, Jan. 24
to 30, under the auspices of the Wausau Outdoor Sports club. The hockey teams of the Universities of Wisconsin and Minnesota play exhibition games here on the final two days, and the Marquette university hockey team will meet the winner of the amateur teams of the valley cities.

SAW RECTOR'S WIFE IN LANE. SHE TESTIFIES

Mrs. Gibson Again Identifies

Brothers

HEARD FOUR SHOTS FIRED

Describes Voices in De Russey's Lane, Followed by Shooting

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J.—(AP)—
Mrs. Jane Gibson supported by a physician and a nurse, raised herself on a hospital bed in court here Thursday to point to Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens, as three persons she saw near the spot where the bodies of the Rev.
Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor E.
Mills were found.

She spoke in a low voice as she started to tell her story and the court stenographers repeated her answers to the jury but as she proceeded her voice grew stronger and when she finished direct examination, occupying 25 minutes, she said he clearly heard.

Her story was substantially the same as that she has previously told except that she said she saw Henry Stevens at the spot, after she had previously seen Mrs. Hall and Willie Stevens in a sedan parked in DeRus-sey's lane.

TALKED ABOUT LETTERS

She declared that she heard the voices of men and women, and several words "explain letters" and several oaths by men. An oath preceded the demand "let go" she testified. She then told of four shots which she described as "bang bang, bang."

Her recital of screaming in a woman's voice she emphasized with "Oh, my! Oh, my!" what a terrible screaming.

"I seen a man and another man,"
she said when she told of seeing Henry Stevens. She was not asked to identify the "other man." She had previously said that she saw Henry Carpenter, representative of the state, who the other man was in her testimony Thursday. Carpenter is under indictment but is not on trial with his three cousins.

SAW WILLIE STEVENS

She said that she saw Willie Stevens in the automobile but not at the spot where the mumble of voices was heard. Mrs. Hall was described as present later wearing her handkerchief and went to follow the wagon, which in the meantime, had driven away. She described how she remained about fifty feet behind the wagon as she followed it in the direction of New Brunswick.

WHITE WOMAN, COLORED MAN

"I saw a white woman and a colored man, she testified. "She didn't have no hat on. The woman was Mrs.
Hall and I afterward learned that the man was Willie Stevens."

"When you came down the lane, did you hear anything?" asked Simpson.
"Yes, I heard men's voices and women's voices."

"When they came nearer could you make out what they were saying?"
"They were saying something about some letters."

SAW A FLASHLIGHT

"I heard a man say: 'You let me go,'
then I heard a holler. Next I saw a flashlight and saw something bright in the hands of one of the men." At this point the witness began gesticulating
to illustrate her story.

"The witness said she saw two faces
when the flashlight was on."
"Was the man's face that of Henry Stevens?"
"Yes, it was Henry Stevens."

"Was the other face that of Willie Stevens?"
"No."

"DID YOU HEAR ANYTHING?"

"The light went out and I heard a shot, something heavy fell and I

STATE TREASURERS HEAR SOL PRAISE BADGER FINANCES

Elimination of "Red Tape" Responsible for Low Costs,
Levitan Says

Hot Springs, Ark.—(AP)—By eliminating "red tape" and placing state operation on an efficient basis, Wisconsin has been able to keep total expenditures for the past ten years below the amount spent in adjoining states. State treasurer, Charles A. G. Brusewitz, declared Thursday in an address before the National State Auditors' Comp. trollers and Treasurers.

"United States census figures show," he said, "that the per capita cost for the annual operation of state government is lower in Wisconsin than in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota or Michigan, whose state problems in general are similar to ours."

"The total annual expenditures of these five states according to government figures, the latest comparative figures available are as follows: Wisconsin $2 million; Iowa $4 million; Minnesota $4 million; Michigan $5 million; Illinois $12 million."

"Not only is Wisconsin's government costing less, but the percentage of increase in the past ten years has been less than most other states. While Wisconsin's cost of government among other states has however, tripled, Wisconsin has the fifth smallest increase in governmental expense during this period of all the states."

"Wisconsin spends most of its money for the education and roads," Mr. Levitan said, "and almost half of this total expenditures is for education."

"The bulk of our state expenditures goes for constructive projects that will bring benefits to our people. Wisconsin is proud of its highways. It spends 15 percent more than the average for other states on good roads. And the interesting thing is that our people pay for their roads as they ride. The income from our gasoline tax, our motor license fees with what federal aid we receive, is sufficient to pay all highway bills so that property is not taxed to pay for roads."

"That perhaps is the secret behind the record which Wisconsin has made in state financing. We pay our bills as we go. In our state we have no bonded indebtedness with the exception of a small Civil War debt which is being paid off every year. In Wisconsin when money is to be spent for highways, schools or other public purposes we raise the money at once and pile up no debts to eat up our income with interest."

ADOPT RESOLUTION TO CURB TAX BOARD POWER

A resolution instructing the legislature that Outagamie county favors an appeal from decisions of the tax commission was adopted by the county board Thursday morning. This marks "first" to the prolonged tax fight waged by the city and other communities against the recent revaluation of the county and the annual report of the committee of equalization.

The final vote was 25 for adoption and 15 against the resolution.

Proponents of the measure argue that taxpayers should have recourse to appeal from final decisions of the tax commission through circuit and supreme court.

COUNTY BOARD ATTENDS FARM-CITY MEETING

The entire membership of the county board with the exception of one absent representative will attend the annual "get-together" dinner of farmers and businessmen sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, as was announced Thursday morning.

Tickets to the affair were distributed at the board session.

No formal action was taken on the invitation aside from acceptance of the admission cards.

TRAIN HITS AUTOIST ON W. COLLEGE-AVE

George Barth of Black Creek escaped injury when the car which he was driving was struck by a Chicago and Northwestern passenger train at 8:30 Thursday morning at the crossing on W. College ave. Barth was driving west on W. College ave and failed to note the warning signals. When he had almost reached the tracks he saw the train approaching from the south and attempted to turn to the left on S. Cherry st. He made the turn but thought that he was not clear and tried to back further away from the tracks. The front end of the car swerved toward the tracks and the step on the locomotive tore the fender from the car.

BOARD AUTHORIZES $100,000 BONDS TO PAVE HIGHWAY 76

Bond Issue Will Be Retired
by Money from Gasoline Tax

Issuance of $100,000 worth of 5 percent highway improvement bonds to be used for construction of a hard surface road to fill the gap on state trunk highway 76, between Greenville and Stephentown, was authorized by the county board Thursday morning with only one dissenting vote.

The project, it is pointed out, costs the county virtually nothing as bonds are to be retired by an estimated $129,000 state fund appropriation which will become available in 1929.

"The maintenance of the road would cost more than the interest charged on the bonds and the county is actually taking advantage of a possibility to build and use the road between 18 months and 2 years earlier than would otherwise be possible," it was stated.

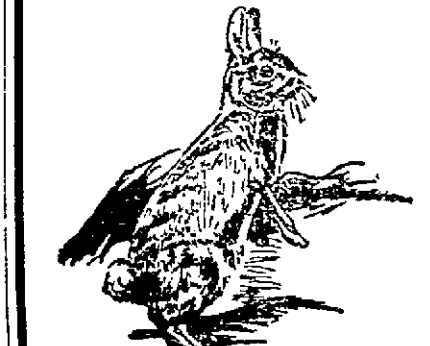

Approval of the state highway commission to the proposal was received several weeks ago and it is assured Outagamie-co that income from the gas tax will not be diverted to any other purpose than retirement of the bond issue.

Further economy in handling of the bonds is guaranteed through the fact that a stipulation of the resolution provides for sale of the securities only in such quantities as funds become necessary for actual construction purposes. In this manner, it was asserted, interest will be paid only on the amount needed.

EXPECT SNOW WILL BE GONE IN FEW DAYS

Not Necessary to Clear Highways, Street Department Says

Although six inches of snow fell Wednesday night and Thursday morning, the street department will not put all its snow removing equipment into use because it is expected that this snow will melt away in a few days. If snows were used to clear the streets the snow would be banked along the sides of the roads and would probably remain a much longer time than if it is allowed to melt, according to R. F. Hackworthy, street commissioner.

Approximately 20 men were at work Thursday morning clearing their street intersections and another crew of men and a truck will remove the snow from the Oneida and College ave intersection. The snow will be dumped

CLEAN YOUR WALKS, IS PLEA OF COMMISSIONER

Robert Hackworthy, street commissioner, Thursday issued an appeal to all property owners to shovel their sidewalks.

"The street department does not care to humiliate citizens by sending city employees to clean walks, but such action is necessary if owners fail to rid their walks of snow, he pointed out.

"Many persons apparently do not know that they must pay the city for having their walks cleaned," Mr. Hackworthy said. "Then when they appear at the office of the city treasurer to pay their taxes, they are surprised to find special charges assessed against them. The city charges property owners either by the hour or by the foot, depending upon the depth of the snow."

Startling Free Offer to Sufferers From DEAFNESS Head Noises from Nasal Catarrh

25,000 Trial Treatments
Free This Month

Dr. W. O. Coffee, practicing physician of Davenport, Iowa, one of the most widely known specialists in the middle west, has originated a treatment, which completely restored his hearing and ended his head noises from nasal catarrh.

He is so proud of this treatment and believes it should help others, as it has him, that he offers to send it absolutely free, for trial, to the readers of this paper, who are suffering with deafness, dullness of hearing and head noises from nasal catarrh.

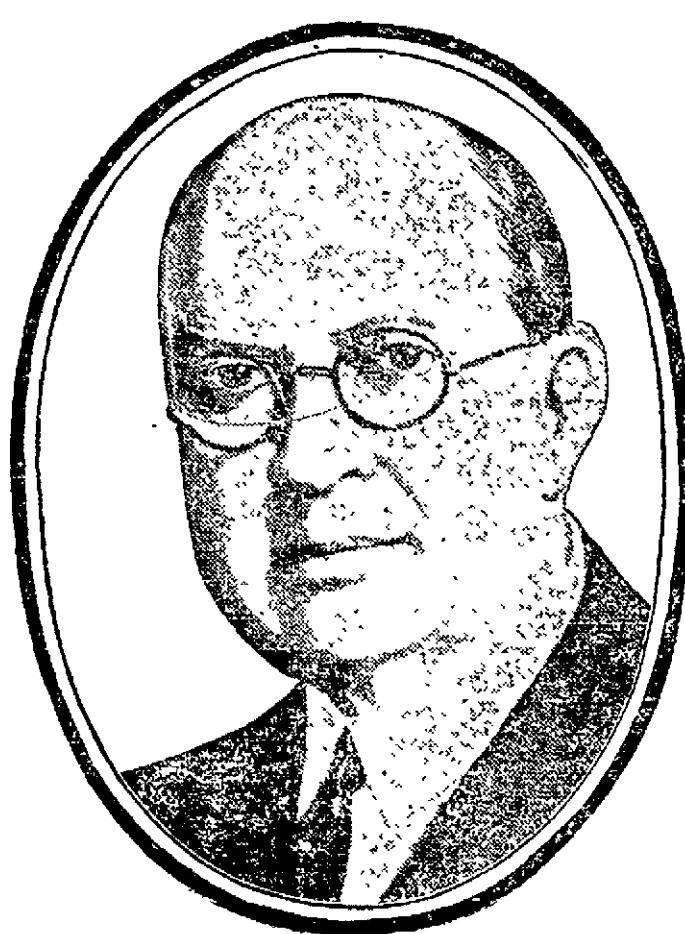

He restored his own hearing and ended his head noises by this original treatment after he had suffered for years. Two operations, and other remedies were tried without avail before he finally originated this treatment that ended his suffering.

During the past three years he has prescribed for more than 200,000 people afflicted with deafness, dullness of hearing and head noises from nasal catarrh and with catarrh; he has, in his office, the records of literally hundreds who regained their hearing by his home treatment.

More than 90 per cent of deafness is due to nasal catarrh, either in the wet form or the dry, the doctor says, and he urges everyone who suffers in this way to take advantage of this limited free offer. Catarrh may cause indigestion, rheumatism, stomach ills and many other diseases.

Dr. Coffee wants every sufferer from deafness or head noises from nasal catarrh to write him this month; he wants everyone to test this treatment that has restored hearing to so many people.

And remember—these trial treatments are sent absolutely free. So write today—send at once, this notice may not appear again.

DR. W. O. COFFEE

NOTED DEAFNESS AND CATARRH SPECIALIST

Dr. Coffee's Wonderful Experience

Few specialists in the entire United States have had as wonderful experience as has Dr. Coffee, a nationally known figure in the treatment of deafness, head noises and nasal catarrh.

He has devoted over 45 years of his life to treating eye, ear, nose and throat diseases. By the use of his perfected home treatment, patients are now able to treat their deafness, head noises and nasal catarrh right in their own home. This has been the means of restoring hearing to thousands.

A great number of people state that they have been deaf or partially so for five, ten and even twenty years, yet their hearing has been restored by Dr. Coffee's famous home treatment. It has banished their deafness and head noises, they say.

And in addition to this enviable record, he has freed thousands of people from catarrh, with which they have been burdened.

He especially urges those sufferers who are troubled with a mild form of deafness or head noises from catarrh and who are hard of hearing in one ear and growing worse with every cold, to try this original treatment. They are as a rule, the doctor says, gradually losing their hearing and he believes his method will restore it.

He asks no money from you for this free trial treatment. He pays the postage—it arrives at your home prepaid, with directions as to how it should be used. Many people have written him that his free treatment alone has restored their hearing. It won't cost you a cent to try this treatment in your own case.

GEORGE BISHOP

Restored Hearing in One Month

Mr. George Bishop of Sask. Canada, says, "I had been growing deaf for 12 years and had been to some of the best hospitals in all Canada and even submitted to operations without success. I spent hundreds of dollars but gradually grew worse. I became so bad that people had to talk directly into my ear, if I was to hear. By using Dr. Coffee's treatment, my hearing was restored in one month's time. I wish that every sufferer everywhere who is afflicted as I was would give this wonderful treatment a test. It is wonderful."

Hearing Restored at 86

"I had suffered with nasal catarrh for seven or eight years; I had terrible head noises, my hearing was bad. It was necessary for people to talk loud, otherwise I could not hear them. I used Dr. Coffee's home treatment for four months, and it restored my hearing to such an extent that I can now take a part in an ordinary conversation. The head noises are a thing of the past. I am 86 years old."

J. C. Patterson, Indiana.

Wonderfully Improved

"I received your treatment for catarrhal deafness and in just three days after I had used it, my hearing began to improve. And now I am wonderfully improved."

D. H. Carpenter, Alabama.

Cured Nasal Catarrh

"I was a victim of catarrh for ten years. I had doctored everywhere, but found no relief until I started Dr. Coffee's treatment. Prior to this, I had a constant discharge from my nose and head; I was rapidly becoming deaf. Now I can hear exceedingly well, my head has quit aching, and I feel like a new woman."

Mrs. C. Bloomfield, Alabama.

A Wonderful Treatment

"I want to tell you that yours was the most wonderful treatment I have ever used. I had a violent roaring in my head, and felt dizzy constantly. Now I feel much better, and my hearing is practically restored."

Mrs. Ethel Godbault, Florida.

Restored Hearing

"Your treatment has brought back my hearing. I can hear now as well as I ever did, and I want to thank you."

E. Micheaux, Texas.

Nothing Else Relieved Me

"Nearly four years ago, nasal catarrh caused me to lose my hearing; distressing head noises and intense pain followed. No treatment seemed to give me relief until I used Dr. Coffee's home treatments. In less than six months, the catarrh had disappeared, headaches left me, and my hearing was restored."

A. Glenn, Illinois.

Well in One Month

"I am feeling very much better—no more head noises, ringing or pounding in my ears. My hearing is as good as ever. Dr. Coffee's treatment relieved me in one month. Before this I had been treated by specialists for nearly six months with no benefit."

George Petersen, Washington.

Head Noises Gone

"I have been greatly helped by your treatments. I had been troubled for years with violent head noises and finally a friend advised me to try your method; he sent for the treatment himself. I noticed improvement at once, and now I am well as ever. I feel greatly indebted to you."

Mr. C. McGinness, Pennsylvania.

Hears as Well as Ever

"I am now able to hear as well as I ever did. My head, throat, nose and ears are in good condition. One month's treatment did its work well. I am grateful to you, and you may use my name for reference."

Peter Moraz, Pennsylvania.

Hearing Restored as in Youth

"My hearing has been restored through the use of your treatments. I can hear as well as when I was a young girl."

Mrs. T. C. Gamberg, South Dakota.

MRS. MONA MCBRIDE

Chronic and Acute Deafness Ends

Mrs. Mona McBride of Illinois says, "This is to certify that since having scarlet fever, when a little girl, I have been hard of hearing, and for the past four or five years I have been almost entirely deaf in one ear. A few months ago my left ear began to discharge. I found it to be abscessed and discharging a foul fluid. Nothing seemed to stop it and finally I tried Dr. Coffee's treatments. To my surprise and delight the hearing in the ear which was partially deaf for nearly 20 years has returned and the abscess has healed. Now I can hear a conversation six feet away. I didn't believe it possible and I certainly advise anyone suffering with deafness to try this treatment. I obtained relief in a short time."

Freed After 48 Years

"I had been gradually growing deaf for 48 years. I had not been able to hear over a telephone for 17 years. I had been to specialists in Berlin, Paris and London, and found no relief. Dr. Coffee's treatment restored my hearing so I could hear over a telephone in either ear, quite plainly. I no longer suffer with intense, head noises."

Mrs. M. Sherier, Missouri.

Neenah—The annual interschool basketball tournament at Kimberly high school started Wednesday afternoon with the Frosh team defeating the Seniors team by a score of 13 to 12 and the Junior team defeating the Senior team in a three overtime period game by a score of 19 to 18. The Froshmen will play the Seniors at 8:45 and the Juniors and Sophomores will play at 4:30 Friday afternoon. Members of the Junior team who were out of Wednesday's game will be back in school for the Thursday and Friday games adding that much more strength to the plucky little team which battled through the three overtime periods and finally gave in to a rule whereby each man throwing a free throw, the team tallying the most points after the five players of each team had tried, to be declared the winner. The Juniors did not get a point by this method, the Seniors receiving one and that was made by Glenn Smith, giving the decision to his team. The afternoon program, which was opened by the Frosh team, was won by the Frosh team by a score of 19 to 18. The Froshmen scored a free throw for the only marker made by either side in the first quarter. In the second quarter baskets were made by Neubauer for the Frosh and Stecker and Mielke for the Seniors. The half ended 5 to 4 for the Frosh team. In the third quarter a basket was made by Kolzen for the Frosh and a basket each by Gaertner, Thurman and Mielke for the Seniors. In the last quarter Nelson and Bell each tallied a basket and Kolzen a free throw for the Frosh and Mielke a basket for the Seniors.

The Frosh team was composed of Nelson, center; Kolzen and L. Neubauer, guards; Schmidt and Christensen, Ehler and Bell forwards. The Sophomores team included Eggert and Stecker, center; Gaertner, Clevering and Mielke guards; Gollmeier, C. Neubauer and Thurman forwards. The exciting game of the afternoon was between the Seniors and Juniors. The Juniors gave the Seniors a hard fight and finished at the end of the time with a tie, 14 and 14. The first overtime period resulted in a tie, the second period both teams tallied a basket and in the third period Olson tallied two more points for the Seniors and Neubauer came across again with two points for the Juniors. To settle the tie of 18 to 18, Coach Ole Jorgenson announced that the team making the most free throws, one throw for each member of the two teams, would be declared the winner. The Seniors won by one point.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED!
LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! See if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup." Then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

ENGAGE BUSES TO

to Hurry Children Home After School

Menasha—At a recent meeting of the board of education it was decided to arrange with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company to provide busses to transport Third ward children back to the island from the high school building after school each evening.

Since the children attend school in the afternoon only it is necessary to hold classes until 4:30 in order to get in all the required studies. It becomes quite dark and it was thought advisable to get the children home as soon as possible after school hours.

Two busses will be provided and were started Thursday. All children in grades 1, 2, 3, and 4 will leave from the high school building.

SCHINDLER SEEKS BRUSEWITZ' JOB AS HIGHWAY HEAD

Twelve Seek Election to Five Places on County Highway Commission

With the five members of the commission seeking reappointment for the ensuing year and with seven applications filed, indications are that Friday's session of the county board will be largely taken up with the election of officers and the reorganization of the county highway commission.

Highway Commissioner A. G. Brusewitz, it was unofficially announced Wednesday morning, will be opposed for election by the board for the next term, which is two years.

L. M. Schindler, Appleton, at present county surveyor, will seek the office. Mr. Schindler said Wednesday that he intends to submit his nomination.

The one-year term of member of highway commission requires the filing of written application with the county clerk; the election of a highway commissioner is accomplished through nomination from the floor and a vote of the board members.

Appointment of the committee was approved as a special order of business for 10 o'clock Friday morning and it is presumed the election of the commissioner will be brought up too.

Supervisor Frank Appleton, town of Oneda, a member of the highway committee is the only incumbent who does not face opposition.

Peter Rademacher and L. Bushey will oppose Louis C. Jens, in the First district; William Rohan and James Farrell will clash for honors in the Second; Mr. Appleton holds the Third; William Tate and John Sawall oppose A. M. McCone in the Fourth, and in the Fifth district Charles Schultz, incumbent, will enter a three cornered race against H. F. Fuerst and Charles Schultz.

Whether the foundation recently completed for a residence by H. A. Noffke, contractor, for Edward E. Barber, 1030 W. Winnebago-st., is defective, or measures up to standard requirements will be determined by a committee to be appointed in accordance with Section 12 on Revised Ordinances 196, according to Mayor Albert C. Rule.

If an structure, in the opinion of the building inspector, is defective, the condition of that structure is to be determined by a committee of three, one member of which shall be appointed by the mayor, one by the contractor, and one by the city members, this section of the ordinance provides.

Notice that such a committee will be appointed was sent to Mr. Noffke Wednesday by the mayor.

Controversy over the quality of the foundation which Mr. Noffke has constructed for Mr. Barber at the above address arose recently when Walter Zschachner, building inspector, is alleged by the contractor to have torn down part of the foundation, declaring that the latter refused to remedy defects which the inspector maintained existed in the work.

Mr. Noffke has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Zschachner.

LEGIONAIRES TO PLAN WINTER ACTIVITIES

Outlining the program for the winter the committee will start plans for the state Legion bowling tournament which will be held here early in 1927.

CHURCH TO CONDUCT BAPTISMAL SERVICES

Special baptismal services for children will be held at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning at First Methodist church. After the baptism service a nursery for children will be conducted in the Children's department. Mrs. A. W. Markman will be in charge.

A similar nursery will be conducted during the Sunday morning services every week, according to Miss Esther Miller, secretary of the church.

Commission Will Plant 35 Million Fish Eggs

Madison—(AP)—Approximately 35 million fish eggs have been gathered and placed in hatcheries by the state conservation commission, it was announced by B. O. Webster, superintendent of hatcheries.

The eggs, 20 million of which are lake trout and the remainder whitefish will be planted in Green Bay, Lake Superior and Lake Michigan.

The whitefish will be planted in Green Bay and Lake Superior.

The whitefish eggs have been placed in the Sturgeon Bay and Green Bay hatcheries, while the lake trout will be placed in these and in the Sheboygan hatchery also. Lake trout eggs are hatched in wire netting placed in troughs with running water covering them. At the time of spawning they are usually as large as a small pea.

Water the same temperature as that from which they are taken is poured into the troughs and the hatching period usually lasts about 90 to 120 days.

Whitefish eggs are smaller, being about the size of a pinhead and growing slightly larger during the hatching. Upon emerging from their eggs the baby fish are sometimes as small as the wigglers found in a rain barrel.

CLAIMS ON COUNTY EXCEED $12,000

Many of Items Represent Damage Claims Filed by Farmers for Property Losses

Unpaid claims against the county for a total of more than $12,000 with approximately $500 suggested for relief were submitted to the county board Wednesday by the committee on general accounts.

Many of the items represented damage claims filed by farmers for destruction of property by dogs. In those allowed it was stipulated that the district attorney should start collection from owners.

An item in a claim filed by Margaret Hogan, former municipal court reporter, seeking two weeks vacation salary was disallowed on the grounds that the assumption is that a vacation must be taken during the current employment year, not after resignation has been filed.

The majority of the aggregate sum, however, was allowed payable for routine business of the county.

QUEEN MARIE'S MISSION

Queen Marie in a talk at the Union League Club of Chicago frankly told America that her visit to this country was to interest its people in Roumania. It is a statement of purpose that should occasion no surprise, nor should it be a matter for false construction. It is the natural and logical aim of her mission, and toward it we should be neither critical, suspicious nor unfriendly. We are a great and wealthy, and we trust a sympathetic, nation. The queen of Roumania could not hope, nor do we believe she had it in mind, to take advantage of our altruism or our susceptibilities. We may be young, but we are experienced, and are not to be taken in. We do not think we need to be even on guard against such possibilities. If there is anything Americans can do for Roumania that will advance its happiness and its well-being, we are sure it can be done without detriment to us or our people. Certainly we have a humanitarian interest in the peoples of all nations, and a material interest in their progress. We can and should serve the world from both standpoints, indeed that is what we profess to do. Therefore, Queen Marie has a right to come to us in the spirit of appeal for a better understanding of her country and for closer relations. No one expected her to come on a mere sightseeing trip, and we should receive her agreeably and not at arm's length.

Perhaps it is true, as the queen intimated in her Chicago talk, that Americans have had something like contempt for the Balkan states, both because of their seeming pettiness when compared with the powers of Europe and because of their many dissensions and wars. Without doubt, too, this is an unfair and prejudiced estimate. If America could go to Roumania and see its people, their institutions, their ways and character, it is certain it would feel a kindred touch and that it would evaluate them in much the degree Queen Marie so dramatically painted her subjects. Without doubt the Roumanians are a great people, great in spirit, loyalty, morality, in work, production and the sound virtues. They are a people who have endured much, but through it all they have retained an intense nationalism and they have not, as Marie reminded her hearers, turned bolshevik.

It speaks much for this isolated and humble country that a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, English born and bred and of so great an ancestry and country, should be passionately fond of her adopted land, as all the world knows her to be. We should not treat lightly those countries of Europe which have been buffeted about and despoiled by the greed and militarism of the great powers. If the people of the United States could know Roumanians for what they are, if they could know the Austrians for what they are, and the Czechoslovaks and the Jugo-Slavs and other races and nationalities in submerged eastern Europe; if they could know their ideals and hopes and aspirations and their true character, they would go a long way to aid them—much further than even Queen Marie surmises or than our fearful isolationists dream.

We do not know what America can do for that region of the world. It may loan it money, but that is a small thing. If it does it will take its security. We think Queen Marie's motives lay deeper than that. We believe, as she expressed it, she wants America to think better of Roumania, to seek to know it better, to sympathize with its aims of self-improvement and self-betterment, to appreciate its worth and its right to fair treatment and opportunity. Such an understanding on the part of America might, it is conceivable, be the means of saving Roumania, as well as other small states about it, from future wars and spoliation. It might open up to its trade outlets, educational and industrial development. It might inspire it with renewed ambition and energy, it might rescue it through its own efforts from a drab existence and an uncertain future.

Would it not be worth while to perform this service to Roumania—not merely for Roumania alone, but for Roumania as typifying the materially weak but spiritually strong nations? We think it would, and we, therefore, think Queen Marie's visit, no matter how it may be misconstrued or belittled, is a wholesome event for the people of this country. Not that we do homage to royalty, but that we may learn something from a visitor who represents 17,000,000, people of a country it may fall to our good fortune to serve and help and inspire. Queen Marie is a powerful advocate for her country and we think her Chicago message will reach the heart and conscience of the American people. Let us not make ourselves preposterous by rejecting her appeal or by denying its nobility.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE

The question of national policy with reference to an American merchant marine is becoming acute. The government has been attempting to operate a fleet which came into its hands as a result of the war, and the venture has been exceedingly unprofitable. While the government is engaged in a business which it has long been obvious could not be conducted except with bankrupting results, it has not known how to get out of the business. No one wanted to buy the ships operated by the United States lines, except at a price which amounted virtually to a gift. The other day the government sought to get rid of these vessels by public sale and the offers received were so low that they could not be considered.

We are, therefore, confronted with the necessity of operating a government marine at excessive loss or of practically giving it away to private interests. We think the sentiment of commercial interests throughout the country would favor sale of the fleet. On the other hand, there is a considerable element which would like to have the government operate a merchant marine for sentimental reasons. We cannot blame private interests for their refusal to pay a fair price for the government's ships, for with a capital expenditure approaching any one near their value they could never hope to operate them at a profit. The overhead would be prohibitive. It is doubtful if they can make even operating expenses.

One thing seems to be certain, and that is that government operation is hopeless. It is neither enterprising nor efficient. In competition with other lines it falls down badly. Private ownership and operation of a merchant marine is the only possibility of its establishment. Even if private capital must have one of two things, either the ships at a nominal capital expenditure or a subsidy from the government. The people are opposed to subsidies and they probably would be opposed to selling the ships at a nominal price. Solution of the problem seems to be as far off as ever.

How to maintain a merchant marine is a problem that has never been solved in America. Perhaps it is impossible to maintain one. Certainly the government itself cannot do it except at a loss that more than offsets its value.

"SUCH GOINGS ON"

They park their cars in dark and lonely places. With engines sputtering forms but not their faces. And let it rain or let the cold wind blow. Love laughs at summer showers and winter's snow. While crabbled age, forgetting all that's gone, Would have a law to stop such "goings on."

"Such goings on," with Eve and Adam first began, "Such goings on" have marked the trail of man, Down through the ages all the shady trees Have lent their friendship to such scenes as these. The world has changed and suffered countless pains, But the sweet thrill of kissing still remains.

Oh, crabbled age, which sees them in the park, Finds them on lanes and roadways after dark, Recall the horse and buggy days when you Stopped at the roadside for a kiss or two; The vehicle has altered but the game Of making love is very much the same.

And when a thousand years have rolled along, With all that men shall learn of right and wrong, And all that men shall conquer with their skill, Water will run as usual down hill, And youth as usual will be frowned upon By crabbled age that sees "such goings on." Copyright, 1926, Edgar A. Guest.

THE WAY IT WORKS OUT

Here is a letter from a New York girl which shows how the cowardly, cruel conspiracy of silence works out. Parents, teachers, pastors and others concerned in the welfare of the children ought to read this letter thoughtfully and then ask themselves this question: "Am I an active or passive participant in this conspiracy?"

"Dear Sir:
"I read a letter once in your column, of a girl who wrote to you for information concerning the 'stork yarn.' She couldn't have expressed better a girl's views and feelings on such a subject.

"I also do not dare ask my mother about that. I also feel embarrassed when someone in my company mentions something that has a 'double meaning.' I've asked girls in my office, but they just turn away from me with a shout of surprise and shame and leave me embarrassed. Then I've tried to get married ones to tell me something, but they give me a funny smile and ask, 'Don't you know that?'
"I can't understand where my girl friends find out about such things when no one wants to tell me. I can't find satisfactory information in any book I've read so I can't understand most of the talk that girls and boys engage in. I have few older friends because they all regard me as not understanding what they talk about. Many times I get into embarrassing situations with my boy friends when they turn my words into other meanings and laugh at my ignorance. Then my girl friends whisper to me, 'Don't say that. Don't you know what that means?'
"Now, won't you tell me just what that means? If you hesitate as to my age, I'm typing this letter to show you I really work in an office. I am 18 years of age.

"I would greatly appreciate any information you may wish to give me along this line. If you do not think I should have it, then this will be just another of my many fruitless efforts to find out what it is all about. I've heard such strange things as to my duty and my destination.

"HELEN."
"Helen" is a typist all right. She signs her real name, and true to form she signs it in type. I have sent "Helen" all the information I could—gave her "the works." I hope she will find the information I mailed her sufficient. If it isn't, and "Helen" has any specific questions she wants answered, she need only fire them at Dr. Brady, and if they are of the sort which the Ole Doc thinks deserve an answer he will answer them to the best of his ability. That's that. And in any case nobody under heaven but "Helen" and Dr. Brady will ever know about the transaction. And that's that.

One or two things in "Helen's" letter should be printed in red, for instance:

"I do not dare ask my mother about it."
Mothers, mull that over when you say your prayers. A good many prayers—oh, well, what's the point of such hypocrisy?—do not the religious leaders themselves participate actively in the conspiracy of silence?
"I also feel embarrassed when someone mentions something that has a 'double meaning.' This double meaning smut would fall flat if our children were taught the sacred truth from the beginning. Filthy jokes and obscene stories somehow don't seem funny unless the listener is ignorant."

"I also feel embarrassed when someone mentions something that has a 'double meaning.' This double meaning smut would fall flat if our children were taught the sacred truth from the beginning. The pitiful part of it is that the boy friends who can laugh at such "ignorance" are themselves really more ignorant, though they imagine they know a great deal.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Does sun shining through the window glass have the same health value as outdoor sun? We get wonderful sunshine in our sun room and wonder if we benefit by these sun baths. (H. W. J.)

Answer.—Unquestionably you benefit by such strained sunlight, but one of the most important beneficial influences of sunlight is screened out by window glass—the ultraviolet rays. The only way you can get the benefit of the ultraviolet portion is by opening the windows, or installing windows of special material which may be had at a trifling cost of about $50 per six inch pane.

Jodin and Iodum
Would you recommend taking iodine for a person having glandular trouble? Our druggist said it would cause more harm than good. Is there any cure for goiter except an operation? (Mrs. A. M. P.)

Answer.—I do not know what you mean by glandular trouble. If you mean goiter, better submit the question of treatment to your physician. Most cases of goiter are cured without operation. (Copyright John F. Dille Company.)

Mrs. A. Zonne returned the previous night from an extended visit with relatives in Minneapolis. The postoffice department had commenced a crusade against the periodical libraries which had been admitted to the mails at the rate of one cent a pound intended for newspapers. THE PURE FOOD LAW.

Washington, D. C. In the twenty years that the Food and Drugs Act, commonly known as the Federal pure food law, has been enforced, the Department of Agriculture inspector have investigated 143,578 cases of suspected adulteration or misbranding of food and drug products. The investigations have resulted in court actions in 22,653 cases, and in 14,300 of these proceedings the final decrees have been handed down and notices of judgement issued.

Department officials say, however that while these figures show decided activity on the part of those charged with the duty of enforcing the law they tell but a part of the story of what has been accomplished in the effort to remedy conditions which the law was enacted to correct.

Perhaps the real achievement has been the gradual conversion of manufacturers of the point of view that the law is not to be regarded as an offensive regulatory measure that hampers and restricts them in their business, but is a benefit and advantage to them. Hence when the usual bill to repeal or amend the law is introduced at the coming session of Congress it will not receive much support unless it is intended to strengthen the law. No movement to break down the law can ever again attain serious proportions, it is declared.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Dunlap says he can see the time and it is not far distant, when the food-and-drug inspector will no longer be primarily a policeman, but will be rather an instructor and specialist in the manufacture of pure and unadulterated foods and drugs. In this capacity the inspector will cooperate with manufacturers who desire to conform with the requirements of the law, and will place at their disposal the accumulated information based upon years of experience which the Bureau of Chemistry in its enforcement work has been able to acquire.

NOT AN IDEAL DREAM

"This is no idle dream," Mr. Dunlap told the American Grocery Manufacturers' Association, "for already in many of our industries the inspector is looked upon as a friend and assistant rather than as an enemy or a spy. I am convinced that, by and large, American food and drug manufacturers are honorable individuals, whose purpose it is to give to the consumer his money's worth of pure and wholesome products conforming in every respect to their expressed standards of purity or strength.

"Because of the existence of a specific law covering their products, and also because of the vital character of the products in which they are dealing, from the standpoint of the public welfare, these who purvey foods and drugs are under a peculiar heavy obligation to exert unusual precautions to produce wholesome, pure, and properly branded articles."

Mr. Dunlap pointed out that in addition to the large number of cases that have been examined by his department, thousands of samples obtained for investigational and research work have been examined in the Department laboratories, and the suggestions and advice which the analysts and experts have given to manufacturers have been of inestimable benefit to industry. Methods of production and distribution of food and drugs have been altered and improved as a result of this assistance from the Government, and in some instances, it is said, trade practices have been completely revolutionized, to the ultimate benefit and profit of both producers and consumer.

"I am aware," continued the Assistant Secretary, "that there has been some criticism at times of the actions taken by the Department in specific cases. It would be indeed strange if in the development of more than 140,000 cases some error of judgment, some mistake in the interpretation of evidence, had not sometimes occurred. The Department makes no claim of infallibility for its employees, but we are proud of the fact that no breath of scandal has ever shamed our enforcement activities. We accept as part of the reward for service the acknowledged faith of the American people in the integrity of our food supply."

While Government officials feel that the food and drug law is rapidly gaining friends and supporters among those who are subjected to its regulations it is regarded as highly important that the general public understand fully the value of the law. Mr. Dunlap says that the effects of the enforcement of the law have been so beneficial that the present generation does not fully appreciate what conditions might be without this regulatory influence, and it is always possible, although not probable, that a complacent public spirit and feeling of assurance might prevent of some tinkering with this great piece of food legislation before a popular sentiment could be aroused that would prevent it.

CREATED A FUREUR WHEN PASSED

The food and drug law created a furore at the time of its passage in 1906 and it encountered the bitterest hostility among many manufacturers during the first few years of its enforcement. It went into effect January 1, 1907. Many people have long since forgotten its provisions, although they have a vague idea that Uncle Sam does something or other to insure their getting pure food and drugs.

In a general way the law forbids the importation into the United States, the exportation from the United States, the introduction into interstate commerce and the manufacture and sale in the District of Columbia and the Territories, of misbranded and adulterated food and drugs. The term food is defined to include all articles used for food drink, confectionery, or condiment by man or animals. It is to be considered if any substance has been mixed or packed with it so as to reduce or lower, or injuriously affect its quality or strength; or if any substance has been substituted wholly or in part for the real thing; or if any valuable constituent has been wholly or in part removed; or if it be mixed, colored, powdered, coated, or stained so as to conceal damage or inferiority; or if it contains any added poisonous or deleterious ingredient; or if it consists in whole or in part of any filthy, decomposed, or putrid animal or vegetable substance; or if it is the product of a diseased animal, or one that has died otherwise than by slaughter.

It is also to be deemed misbranded if it is an imitation of or offered for sale as another article; or if it is labeled so as to deceive or mislead the purchaser, or purport to be imported when it was not; or if the contents of the original package shall have been removed and other contents put therein; or if it fail to bear a label stating the amount of any certain drugs, which are designated, contained therein, or if the label make any kind of false or misleading statement. Unlabeled foods in packages are held to be misbranded if they are imitations, and untruthful geographical names are forbidden.

In fact, the law is so comprehensive in its provision that it would be extremely difficult for any manufacturer to tell anything in the way of food or drugs that was not exactly what it should be.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Flies Were First To Use Periscopes

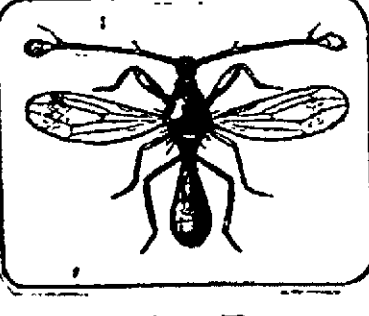

BY AUSTIN H. OLARK

Smithsonian Institution
Periscopes are no new invention. Long before men thought of them some of the flies employed the principle involved to protect them from their enemies.

These so-called stalk-eyed flies have their eyes each on the end of a long stalk projecting sideways from their head. In some the distance from eye to eye is as great as the distance across the wings, or twice the body length.

Stalk-eyed flies are common in the tropics, in damp places and in shady woods. Safely concealed on the under surface of a grass blade with their little eyes projecting out on either side, thanks to the long stalks, they can see you perfectly without your being able to see them. You first see them when they fly away.

One of these stalk-eyed flies is common in the eastern states, but in this the stalks are very short. Many other creatures have stalked eyes beside these flies; for instance, crabs and lobsters, the young of various fishes, and the hammer-headed shark.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York. — Broadway which knows how to handle almost any situation, has been a bit disturbed of late about the college-boy question. A sigh of relief will go along the white light lanes when the football season has ended.

The youths from Princeton, Yale and nearby way points have taken to celebrating their victories in the "fishpots," irrespective of covert charge.

And the manners of the campus at the close of a football game are scarcely those of the night club patrons.

Now the university "prons" may consider "cutting dances," for instance, quite the onions, but the papas who are stepping their girl friends around at $2 per coverture, and more plus gingerale, white rock and tips, see no percentage in providing entertainment for unscouted young men.

Many are the reports of brawls, near brawls and hot arguments to issue from the night club zone.

Hip flasks, they say, are very popular just now in the bleachers during the "big games," and by the time the trains reach New York the collegians are in good form.

Recently three of them wandered into a club, in the best manner of the varsity prons, stepped up to cut dances. The Broadway regulars didn't know what this was all about.

It happened that the three picked on a girl who was dancing with one of the hardest gents of the famous street. When one of them "cut in" the Broadwayite merely pushed him aside. He held a consultation with his fellows. When the scene cleared the three varsity lads were sitting on the pavement outside.

Night clubs, be it known, now are known either as "hotstytiscles" or "class cafes."

The "hotstytiscles" gets the indiscriminate mob. The prices may range up to $3 per cover, but evening dress is not required and the entertainment is more peppery and the dancing more popular.

The "class" places are those in which patrons appear in evening clothes, all others being barred. The prices in these range up to the $5 mark per cover set by Otto Kahn's little box, Rogar.

The former are frequented by those who seek entertainment and amusement; the latter by scores of "clubbers" who try to make the social grade and, hence, follow the lead of the society folk.

In all the walks of Manhattan life, none is more futile than that followed by the fawners who would ape the catthy set and who consequently follow in the wake of the society "regulars."

HELIUM IS FOUND BOON TO DIVERS; PREVENTS BENDS

Use of Gas Permits Workers to Remain Under Water Longer

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

Deep sea divers and other underwater workers will be able to go deeper and stay longer with safety through the use of helium to replace the nitrogen of the air pumped to them.

Bends, or caisson disease, which has claimed the lives of many such workers, who are paralyzed by the bubbles of nitrogen forming in their bodies, can be prevented to a great extent through this innovation.

The discovery of the use of helium, that rare inflammable gas so essential in the safe operation of dirigibles of the air, is attributed to three officials of the U. S. bureau of mines at the Pittsburgh experiment station. They are Dr. R. S. Savers, chief surgeon of the bureau; W. P. Yant, associate chemist, and Joel Hildebrand, professor of chemistry of the University of California.

USE GUINEA PIGS

The event that established the practicability of helium as a safer substitute for the nitrogen of the air was the salvaging of the U. S. submarine S-51, after it was sunk off Newport, R. I., by the steamer City of Rome.

Divers under the leadership of Chief Gunner C. L. Tibbals were the subjects of the experiments that led to the actual diving operations at the S-51.

Before them, however, guinea pigs, those dumb little martyrs for science, were subjected to extensive tests in special compression chambers simulating conditions as deep as 60 feet under water.

HOW IT WORKS

It was discovered that when helium replaced nitrogen and a little less oxygen that usual was fed to the animals, in place of the regular air under compression, the guinea pigs could withstand much higher pressures. Then Tibbals and his crew took the tests and were able to undergo higher pressures and get out of them more easily and quickly, under helium feeding.

The process of deep-sea diving is slow and treacherous. Divers cannot work deeper than 200 feet, and at that depth their limit is from 10 to 20 minutes, because of the high pressure under which their bodies are put, and the increased absorption of nitrogen in their blood.

As they are brought up this pressure under which their bodies have been placed has to be reduced in gradual stages. The reason is that a sudden decompression causes bubbles of the nitrogen absorbed in the blood to appear. These bubbles are the cause of caisson disease, or bends, and if they happen to appear in the brain or spinal cord may cause paralysis and death.

Substitution of helium, it was found at the bureau of mines, lessened the danger of bubbles in the blood. The helium molecule is much smaller than the nitrogen molecule. For this reason it will diffuse more rapidly, escape more easily and produce smaller bubbles.

KEPT FOR EMERGENCY

The high cost of helium, however, prevents the actual feeding of this gas, in place of the nitrogen of the air to the divers while they are under water. Instead, the regular nitrogen-containing air is fed the divers, but there is always a full tank of the synthetic atmosphere of helium and oxygen, attached to a breathing apparatus, for emergencies. If the diver develops bends on his return to the surface, this helium breathe is applied, removing the symptoms at most immediately.

The helium atmosphere can be pumped to the diver at intervals so as to keep him down deeper and longer than usual. As a result of its use, the 10 minutes heretofore available to divers at a depth of 200 feet can be extended to an hour.

Besides making diving so much safer, it will enable the salvaging of many wrecks heretofore considered impossible of salvage.

$10,000 PAID OUT BY COURT IN YEAR

Money Goes to State, County and City and in Official Fees

More than $10,000 was paid out by Municipal Judge Theodore Berg to the county, city and state treasury departments, and in official fees, during the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, according to the judge's annual report prepared for the county board of supervisors. This money was taken in as penalties of the court, the report shows.

The total for the year was $10,117.52 of which the county and state fines took $3,176; fines paid into the treasury for violation of ordinances amounted to $370; the city treasury received $3,081 through the court; sheriff and motorcycle officer fees accounted for $1,894.51; police fees in Appleton, $633.33. Several smaller amounts paid to miscellaneous law enforcement officers and civilians including $67.40 to R. H. McCarty, chief of police of Kaukauna, make up the balance.

A considerable amount of the money collected in municipal court reverts to the state, especially in liquor law violations, it was pointed out.

Quaking Swains Waste Time Of County Officers

"Ugglepp," said from behind a sheltering hand may mean to a lovesick swain, "my name is John Henry Fitzgibbon, my mother's maiden name was Elizabeth Smith, I am white and 28 years old, and my paternal grand-sire got a cut lip in the battle of Vicksburg," all of which is part of the more or less pertinent information required when a young man either walks or is led haltingly to the window at the county clerk's office to apply for a marriage license.

But—

To the young woman whose official duties entail the filling out of marriage licenses the gurgling noises made by the average rather embarrassed couple mean something less than nothing at all.

"They are all bound to learn to speak up sometime—why not now?" is the query that comes to mind.

From an economic standpoint taxpayers might well get behind an educational campaign on How to Apply for a Marriage License.

At an average of four minutes for each application, one minute of it is lost in assuring the applicants that they can "speak right out in meeting," a net loss of approximately 1,000 minutes a year is suffered by the taxpayers at large.

Translated into money that means perhaps $5 annually!

CUT OF COAT IS MOST IMPORTANT THIS YEAR; FUR COLLARS HAVE LOST SUGGESTION OF WEIGHT

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK—No item of a woman's wardrobe approximates in importance her fur coat. Once, a symbol of wealth and luxury, today it is a necessity.

Where once only a favored few could be oblivious to winter winds, wrapped in their fur coats, now comparatively few women feel they can be without them.

But the really lovely fur coat is never ordinary. Nowhere is quality more apparent or inferior quality and bad workmanship so noticeable.

Gone are the days when a fur coat was won for years without an alteration. In this swift moving generation, fashions change with every season. Thus year they are definitely slim. Pelts have been shaved and trimmed until they are soft as fabrics.

IT'S OUT THAT COUNTS

I consider the cut of a fur coat in finitely more important than the fur that is that a well-cut, slender looking coat in an inexpensive fur will be infinitely more effective than rare and consequently costly pelts made into a garment which has been cut with no feeling for line.

Beautiful efforts this year are gained by dyeing. Take, for instance, the ermine model illustrated. The virgin white of the fur has been dyed a light gray, soft and dove-like, which because of its novelty is much more interesting than the original white.

Other fashion points of this wrap are the deep cuffs and the wide collar which frames the face so beautifully and closes in a deep V-line.

Undyed ermine this season is often trimmed with a contrasting fur to heighten its purity, as in the evening wrap with the sable collar and stole. This has a deep V in the back and is cut to give the close narrow line so desirable this season.

For the opera, theater and for all evening affairs, this type of fur wrap is exceedingly desirable.

COLLARS CHANGE MOST

Another model which may be worn by day and also for evening is the model of broadtail with the collar and stole of sable. For real elegance, there is no more appropriate choice of furs. The effect here is heightened by the Russian sable toque worn by the model.

These three models feature the flaring, standing collar that is known as the Vionnet collar because it has been introduced and exploited by that famous designer.

The most startling changes in fur coats this year have been made in the collars. They are more a logical part of the wrap and less an obvious addition than ever before. They have lost all suggestion of bulk and weight, no matter how voluminous they may be.

POLITE, THOUGH MARRIED

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I HAVE just read a book in which the mother of the family always addressed her husband as "Mr. Sanders." Never did the children or anyone else ever hear her speak of him or to him otherwise than "Mr. Sanders," whether it was to ask him if he had spoken to the sexton about repairing the church, new or if he preferred the hot brick for his bed "sizzlin' or just mecum."

There is little doubt that the familiarity does breed contempt, or its counterpart, disrespect—particularly in family life where no thought or time is given to the amenities of polite behavior; one must applaud the home and rather casual attempt of the jaunty Mrs. Sanders to maintain a feeling of respect in the household for her somewhat slipshod husband.

It is the lack of polite convention, including the passing of the old time courtliness of husbands toward wives, that is the broken hinge in the postern gate for Old Man Trouble. Once inside he starts all sorts of things. Not necessarily dish-throwing or rolling-pin practice, but nagging, bickering and ridicule. A habit thus gained in the home often goes out scantly clothed. Very thinly camouflaged, the persecution goes on in public. But in the end one cannot bring an indictment against husbands alone, for have you not known women who are constantly reminding their husbands of their shortcomings? As far as the publicity end of it goes, men are less likely to discredit their wives when others are about.

The man who ridicules his wife's politics, bridge, weight or housekeeping!

The woman who calls attention to her husband's awkwardness, appetite, friends, or earning capacity! Nearly always personalities.

Madame Grundy looks over her glasses and shakes her head. "Poor taste and poorer matrimony," says she.

BRITISH WOMEN HAIR UNSHORN

Leeds—(AP)—British women engineers, the women who are managing directors of housing schemes, gas plants and various corporations manufacturing machinery, do not go in for the Eton Crop.

Not a single crop appeared among the brainy women attending the conference of the Women's Engineering Society. In fact there were not many shingles. More than half of the women wore long hair, and not one was attired in a costume which had the least suggestion of mannishness. Only a few of them smoked.

WOULD ABOLISH WOMEN'S CLUBS

Davenport, Ia.—(AP)—Women are raising political barriers for themselves through their desire for independent action, in the opinion of Mrs. Elia Bushnell-Hamlin, an independent candidate for congress in the Second Iowa district. Mrs. Bushnell-Hamlin believes more cooperation with men in politics would soon result in greater representation for her sex in public life.

"I am in favor of eliminating the sex line and abolishing all women's clubs," she declares.

THEY CAN SING AND ACT

London—(AP)—The list of actresses who can sing, as well as act include Miss Edna Best, who takes the part of the "Constant Nymph" in the dramatized version of Margaret Kennedy's novel.

Marie Tempest began her stage career as a vocalist. Miss Viola Tree once cherished hopes of singing in opera. Juliet Neilson was a fine singer, and her daughter Phyllis Neilson-Terry has inherited her talent. Marie Lohr possesses a well-trained

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN

If You Would Be Attractive You Must Be Healthy

A beautiful woman is always admired. There are many types of beauty. There are many types of woman can be truly beautiful unless she is healthy. Radiant vitality is always attractive. However, a woman's features may be. Many a woman has found her health improved through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Weakness, loss of weight, and a pale complexion were a few things of which Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Box 211, Tallahassee, Florida, complained before she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "I could not even sit down and talk to a friend for any length of time," she states. "I would forget what I was talking about and felt so blue." Mrs. Taylor is so pleased with the work of the Vegetable Compound that she keeps a bottle of it in the house at all times—and when it is empty, her husband makes sure that she has a new bottle. "I have regained my strength," Mrs. Taylor writes. "I can do all my housework now and I feel just fine."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Grapes, cooked whole wheat cereal, thin cream, crisp rye toast, creamed dried beef, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Salmon timbales with creamed peas, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, pineapple Bavarian cream, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast beef, browned potatoes, brown gravy, buttered cauliflower, carrot salad, lemon gelatine with bananas and cream, plain cake, whole wheat rolls, milk, coffee.

These are simple, seasonable menus suitable for the average family. Cabbage can be substituted for the cauliflower in case the first vegetable is not available.

The carrot salad combines chopped carrot, celery and green pepper with a well-seasoned boiled dressing. If the salad is wanted for children under school age, the pepper should be added after this serving is appropriated.

This cake recipe is suggested because it uses a minimum of eggs but makes a delicate cake.

PLAIN CAKE

Two eggs, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 6 tablespoons melted butter, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Break eggs into mixing bowl and beat until very light. Gradually add sugar, beating with an egg beater. Beat in melted butter. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat with a slotted spoon until smooth; stir in vanilla. Turn into an oiled and floured dripping pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Or bake in a loaf for 50 minutes.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE Tinymites were on the go while seeking Clowzy, high and low, and when they'd searched the basement he was nowhere to be found. Said Scouty Tinymite, "Who dares to try and find him way up stairs?" And they all answered "We do!" as they started with a bound.

So up the stairs the whole band went. About two minutes time was spent in getting to the kitchen. That's where Scouty stopped them short. "Don't be in such a rush," said he, "I'd better look around and see if anybody's near at hand, and then we'll have some sport."

The farmer's wife had just stepped out and Scouty shortly turned about and motioned to the others. Hurry up, the way is clear. Before he had much time to think, some Times climbed upon the sink. Said Ukey, "We can quench our thirst. There's water running here."

Of all the very funny sights. Well, just imagine Tinymites a'running round the sink bowl trying to keep from getting wet. They held their mouths below the spout where water came a' trickling out. "Be careful now," warned Scouty, "or we'll slip and all upset."

Then one began to dance a jig, for he had seen an icebox bag. "Oh, gee, but I am hungry. That's the place for me," he cried. They all knew what the place was for, and when they opened up the door, it really made them smack their lips to see what was inside.

It isn't right to steal, but gee, the band was hungry as could be and if the farmer caught them it would only make him smile. Said Carpy, "We can eat our fill, but try not let the good things spill. We'll fill up now, and then we'll look for Clowzy, after while."

ordeal of meeting outsiders who would be consumed with curiosity about her sister's engagement, she dreaded even more the ordeal of staying with her anxious, silent parents, and answering the incessant ringing of the telephone.

Mr. Lane, looking old and tired and beaten, had refused, in angry silence, to read the paper, and had shut himself up in the bedroom. He shared with his wife, the big family Bible open on his knees. Mrs. Lane, however, took much the same sort of pride in the front page fame as Cherry had, reading and re-reading the account, flushing and muttering at the same passages that had aroused Cherry's anger, and smiling furtively with pleasure at the compliments to her daughter.

"He must be a mighty big man," Mrs. Lane said to Faith, when she had read the account for the third time. "I always did say Cherry could marry any man she picked out. It may turn out fine, Faith. He's certainly a perfect gentleman, and the paper here says he's estimated to be worth between three and five million dollars. Cherry thought he had only one million, didn't she?"

"The paper has probably exaggerated, Mother," Faith turned her eyes away to hide the shame and disgust she could not help feeling.

George Pruitt came for her at four. To Faith's intense relief he acted exactly as usual—cheerful, casual, openly affectionate to Joy, Mrs. Lane and Faith herself. And he did not say a word about Cherry's engagement.

"Mother wants to meet you, Mrs. Lane," George said down on the davenport beside her and laid an arm with easy familiarity across the bowed, billowing shoulder of the pleased and flattered invalid. "She wants to call and take you out driving in her own car. It's all dolled up with silk curtains and plum-colored cushions, but don't hold that against it. It's comfortable, and I don't believe it would hurt you a bit to take a long country drive."

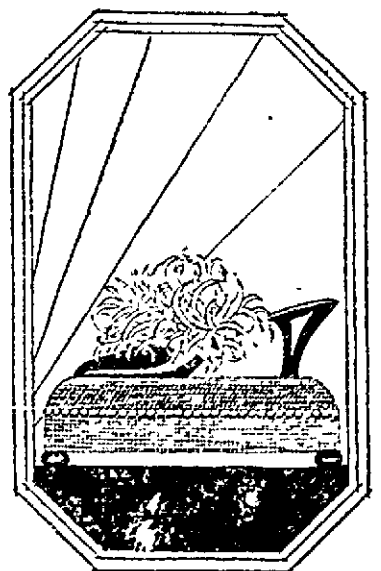

That'd be real nice," Mrs. Lane beamed on him. Of all the young men who came and went so familiarly in the little Myrtle Street house, she liked him best, for he treated her exactly as if she were one of the girls, as she had often remarked to Faith and Cherry. "I guess a lot of people that didn't know where Myrtle Street was will be looking up this number now," she added complacently.

"We'd better go, George," Faith interposed hastily ashamed of being

"And oh, by the way, Mrs. Lane," George rose, patting her hands clumsily loosely in her lap. "Selma is in charge of a pageant that the Big Sisters League is getting up for charity, and she wants Joy to take part in it. She'll make her costume for her herself, and there won't be and both-

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

When Mr. Cluny called that Sunday afternoon to take Cherry for a drive in his limousine, there was nothing in his ceremonious, affectionate greeting to indicate that he had been seriously troubled by his daughter's efforts to blacken Cherry in his eyes.

Faith watched them leave, her heart heavy with new despair. All their old school friends of Cherry's during the interminable night that followed the dreadful scene between Cherry and Mr. Cluny, she had clung fast to the hope that, matter at what cost to her pride, Cherry's engagement would be broken. She had not for a moment believed that the dignified old man would forgive the headstrong girl for the scene she had created in the library of the Marlboro County Club. But when the conversation with Mr. Cluny had taken place, she had known that the marriage was a foregone conclusion. She had seen the light in Mr. Cluny's eyes, and she had known that the marriage was a foregone conclusion. Woman Gives History Of Fox Valley

The history of the Catholic faith in the Fox river valley starting with the arrival of the first French missionary, tracing his work and the work of other missionaries in the valley up to the present, was given by Miss Minnie Kelleher of Green Bay after the dinner for Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and their ladies at 6:30 Wednesday evening at St. Joseph hall. Miss Kelleher, who spent several years making a study of the early Catholic history in the valley, was made a matron of the Holy Sepulchre by the pope about six months ago. BOARD CONVENES AT

Educators Urge Regular School Attendance All Winter
Despite Weather

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—The annual school board convention for Calumet-co was held in the court house on Wednesday with approximately 150 persons present. George Luck, state rural school supervisor, spoke on conditions in rural schools throughout the state and the work needed to be done in these schools.

Dr. Sears of the state board of health gave a talk on communicable diseases and how to prevent them. He scored the old idea that all children must at some time have all the children's diseases and that is just as well to let them have them early. All these diseases should be avoided if possible, he stated.

In the afternoon Miss Pomeroy of the Milwaukee Journal staff spoke on the use of the newspaper in school work. The newspaper, she stated, can be used in arithmetic, literature, debate and other work. In fact, the speaker said, it can be used in nearly all phases of school work. She spoke at length on the editorial page and its value to students. She said that if it were not for the newspaper, school textbooks would soon become obsolete, but they are kept up-to-date by the daily news in the newspapers.

County Superintendent of schools, Mathilde Horn, gave a brief talk to the teachers and a brief talk to the rural schools in this county, spoke on conditions in the rural schools as found in her visits to them. She urged school board members to visit their schools at least once every month, and not only when any repairs are needed. She also spoke on the necessity of keeping the first graders in school during the entire term. Many parents, as soon as inclement weather sets in in the fall, keep the smaller children at home until the milder weather of spring comes, thus interfering seriously with their progress in school, it was pointed out.

Mrs. William Salter, Mrs. George Mortimer, Mr. Edgar Piper, Mrs. Louise Ricker and Mrs. William Ambelang of Racine visited in Fond du Lac Tuesday.

County Superintendent of schools, Mathilde Horn, left Wednesday afternoon for Madison to attend the county superintendents convention, conducted by State Superintendent John Callahan.

EXPECT TO FINISH
SUGAR BEET CROP
HARVEST IN WEEK

Disagreeable Weather an Unusual Strain on Workers and Horses

Special to Post-Crescent
Forest Junction—In spite of the snowstorms and below freezing temperatures of last week, followed by the heavy rainfall of Sunday afternoon, the completion of the sugar beet harvest is in sight. Less than ten acres remain to be completed this week if weather conditions permit.

The continued disagreeable weather has been an unusual strain on the workers and horses as well as on the equipment, and frequent delays were occasioned by broken wagons. Large clumps of earth frozen to the beets have given an unusually high percentage of tare on the loads. Twelve carloads, each containing about thirty tons, have been loaded here, and it is expected that two additional cars will be sufficient for the rest of the crop. The entire output was shipped to the Menominee, Mich., plant of the Menominee River Sugar Co. The yield per acre in this vicinity ranged from approximately nine to fifteen tons.

The Christian Endeavor society of Zion Evangelical church will hold a donation party at the church on Friday evening at which contributions of clothing, toys, edibles, and cash will be received for a Christmas box to be shipped to the Ebenezer Orphan home at Flet Rock, Ohio. Appropriate exercises and social features will be included in the evening's activities which will open at 7.30. WOULD RAISE PAY IF SCHOOL HEAD PAYS OWN BILLS

County Board Resolution Goes to District Attorney for Opinion

Recommendation of a special committee appointed by Chairman Mike Mack, of the board of supervisors, that the salary of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, be raised to $3,500 and that he pay his own expenses out of this sum, was referred back to the committee after reading on the floor Wednesday.

Supervisor Anton Jensen, Little Chute, pointed out that Mr. Meating has no control over the necessary expense connected with his official duties and brought up the question as to whether the board has a right to fix a salary on that basis. This was referred to the district attorney for opinion.

Had the motion carried Mr. Meating's application for a raise in salary would have been virtually nullified through the fact that his expenses for last year amounted to $950. The present salary is $2,500 and Mr. Meating applies for more on the basis of comparative wages paid to city superintendents.

MIX AND "TONY" SHOWN IN NEW DARING ACTS

"Tony Runs Wild," Fox Films latest Tom Mix production, at The New Bijou three days starting today. This picture gives both Mix and his wonder horse "Tony" an opportunity to appear in new feats of strength and skill and to add thrills that are new even for Mix and "Tony."

The setting for "Tony Runs Wild" is along the Apache trail, in some of America's most striking scenery, including exteriors and interiors of the ancient Cliff Dwellings, homes of a race long vanished. Well-known mining properties are shown on the screen and the roads selected for the picture are the most striking of all.

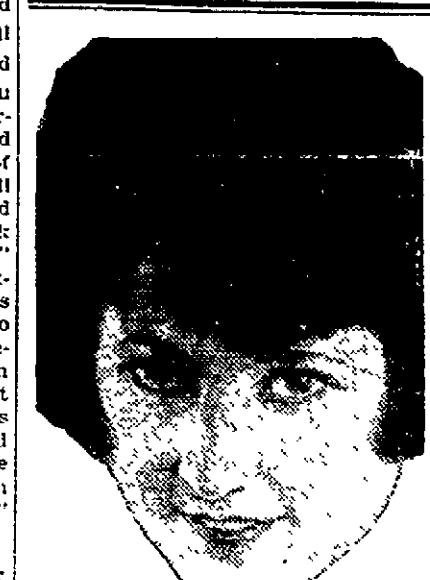

The celebrated Box Canyon is the setting for the final act of the play and "Tony," playing the role of leader of a band of wild horses, displays even more of his unusual intelligence.

BUDAPEST BEAUTY WITH "PERFECT LOVE" IN "THE DARK ANGEL"

The Elite Theatre is offering its patrons Friday only a return showing by request of George Fitzmaurice's latest First National picture, "The Dark Angel," presented by Samuel Goldwyn.

"The Dark Angel" is easily one of the most captivating of the many successes to the credit of Fitzmaurice. It is a modern love story replete with thrills and lavishness. The leading man role, that of Hilary Trent, is in the hands of Ronald Colman, who is seen at his very best in this military role. Opposite him in this, his first American screen play, is Vilma Banky, the fascinating actress recently brought from Budapest by Samuel Goldwyn under long term contract. Her beauty, grace and high order of dramatic talent are unquestioned, and Fitzmaurice has given her wonderful opportunities to display these qualities to the best advantage. As Kitty Vane she awakens a keen sympathy for the role and easily proves herself a young actress of the first rank.

CARROLL CLAIMS UNDISPUTED TITLE ON LEAGUE RULE

Waukesha School Says Won And Lost Battles Decide Between Leaders

If Wins And Losses Are Equal Team With Least Ties Take Honors

Carroll college will be the first grid-iron champion of the new Wisconsin-Illinois conference if it defeats Lake Forest at Waukesha Saturday, according to claims of the Pioneer school. The Carrolls claim that in spite of the fact that Lawrence is undefeated in the league the constitution of the conference as adopted on March 13, 1926 gives the Waukesha footballers the title as it provides that there cannot be a tie for top honors. The rules say that in case of a tie the top two teams in the league will be considered in awarding the title and if these are even the team with the least ties wins, according to the Carroll version. Lake authorities have remained silent on the question evidently preferring to await the results of the Lake Forest-Carroll and Lawrence-Northwestern games.

The Carroll story on the rule which gives that school the title should it win Saturday follows: "The Lake Forest-Carroll game will decide the championship of the Wisconsin-Illinois conference. Should Carroll win, as they are booked to, Carroll will be the undisputed champion of the conference for the second successive year."

"That there is a tie in the standings of Lawrence and Carroll is not according to the constitution of the W-I. conference as adopted March 13, 1926." "Under Article 8, Section 2, the following ruling solves the question of a tie conclusively: 'The percentage basis is to be the general rule for awarding championships, it being insisted that each team meet at least once every other team in the conference. In case of a tie the conference will consider the won and lost games in determining the championship. In case of a tie in won and lost games the tie games determine the result.'"

FORMER BLUE HARRIER STARS WITH RED TEAM

Ripon—(P)—Cross-country racing a new sport introduced this fall at Ripon college by Coach Carl Doehling, director of athletics, is destined to occupy a place among intramural activities here, following a two and one-half mile race which revealed unusual star material. Edward Morecombe, Iron River, Mich., a freshman, came in first.

Morecombe was a freshman at Lawrence last year. He won first in every cross-country meet in which he was entered, both intermural and in competition with other colleges of Wisconsin and Illinois, leading even the veterans of the squad. He was looked on as one of the most promising prospects the school had ever had for the distance events on the track team, but he left school the second semester.

PUNCHBALL LEAGUE STARTS AT KIMBERLY

Kimberly—A noon-hour punchball league started from the different departments of the Kimberly-Clark Co. has been organized and games have been played throughout the week. On Monday noon the strong Warehouse gang with E. Harp at the helm trounced George Gerrius Laboratory aggregation, 41 to 18. Tuesday's battle between the Bleach plant Steam and Electric combination against the Book mill resulted in a victory for the Papermakers when they knocked Scheurle all about the diamond. The heavy hitting of Len Smith featured for the Bookmill. Romeo also played a good game in the field. Games are played each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Thursday's game between the Office team led by Bud Courches and the Construction Squad 1926 champions led by Ralph LaBerg.

Old West Point Stars Shine As Grid Coaches

Knoxville, Tenn. — The "Old Army Game" of coaching has been instituted at the University of Tennessee this fall. It has met with marked success, putting Tennessee back among the grid leaders of the south. Three army officers, Captain Robert Neyland, Captain Paul B. Parker and Major H. D. Britton, who played and coached together at West Point, now have their heads together at Tennessee installing the Army system in Dixie for the first time. In these three officers, Tennessee can boast three of the greatest athletes that ever came out of West Point. Capt. Neyland is head coach, and has charge of the backfield; Capt. Parker is line tutor, and Major Britton is end mentor. Capt. Neyland and Major Britton were the Army's ends from 1912 to 1916, while Capt. Parker played left tackle on the same team with them in 1913, '14, and '15. Their playing days over, the three officers turned to coaching at West Point, where they spent several years. Then they separated in 1924. Capt. Neyland played football with Burleson College, Greenville, Texas, in 1909 and '10, with Texas A. & M. in 1910 and '11, and at West Point. He was coach of regional teams from 1916

MINNESOTA FAVORS ADDITION OF IRISH, HUSKERS TO BIG TEN

Minneapolis—(P)—Addition of Dame and Nebraska to the Western conference enlarging it to a "big twelve" and making it the "most powerful football circuit in the world," is favored by Minnesota according to the Minnesota Daily official publication of the university. Commenting editorially upon the proposed shifts being considered in Big Ten circles, the paper favors the addition of Nebraska rather than the Michigan Aggies to round out a 12-team circuit.

START VALLEY ICE HOCKEY LEAGUE AT MEETING AT NEENAH

Andrew Schultz, Appleton, Secretary; Four Cities Represented

Andrew Schultz, Appleton, was elected secretary-treasurer of the 1926-27 Fox River Valley Ice Hockey League at the organization meeting at Neenah city hall Wednesday evening. Other officers elected were: Earl Bush, Neenah, president, and Herbert Schwandt, Oshkosh, vice president.

Four valley cities, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton were represented at the meeting and President Bush announced that he would visit Kaukauna and Kimberly in the next few days in an effort to get these cities interested. It was decided to draw up both a four and five team schedule so that the loop will be ready to start with the present four squad and also will be prepared just as quickly should either Kimberly or Kaukauna decide to join.

Representatives present at the meeting will look up new hockey rules and secure rule books, for the next meeting which will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening, Nov. 29, at the Post-Crescent office at Appleton. Men desiring to play with the Appleton squad will hold a meeting Monday evening, Nov. 22. Two teams, the Independents and the Schlafers-Galpin Maroons, played here last year, the latter being the league team. This year the teams will combine to form the Appleton representative in the loop, giving the city the pick of the local players from which to form a team.

GOPHER MAY REVERSE SCORE ON MICHIGAN

Minneapolis—The sportsmanship of Coach Fielding Yost of Michigan may react with a reverse English before the season is over. When the Big Ten coaches met to arrange the 1926 schedule, there was a general fear of Minnesota. Coach Spears could induce only three teams to play his Gopher eleven. The Western Conference rules require at least four games with members of the organization. In order to fill Minnesota's schedule, Yost consented to a double header. Michigan won the first game 20-0. Since that time Minnesota has showed constant improvement and threatens to turn the tables on the generous Mr. Yost.

A PURPLE MOON

RALPH "MOON" BAKER

Here's a moon that never sets—Ralph "Moon" Baker, captain and star player on the Northwestern University football eleven. Baker has been one of the big reasons for the great success of the Purple this fall. He will wind up his college grid career against Iowa this Saturday.

CHICAGO "ALL HET UP" OVER BIG GAME

Bears Figure They Have National Title Won if They Dispose of Packers

Chicago—Staid old Chicago accustomed to always seeing the best that is going on in the amusement line doesn't very often get "het up" over a pro football game but just the same there is considerable talk in sport circles about the encounter at Cubs park on Sunday afternoon between the undefeated Bears and the Green Bay Packers.

The Badger state champions have a big following in this city. The average football fans likes to see Wisconsin boys perform because they are past masters in the art of forward passing. It is the open game that grandstanders like to see because when the air is full of footballs they know what is going on all the time.

Three weeks ago, the Green Bay team invaded Chicago and exhibited its football wares on the South side to the extent that the Cardinals took a 3 to 0 lacing. It isn't often that Chris O'Brien's team takes a tumbling from an out of town team but this was one of the times that it happened and Bear scouts, who glimpsed the game hurried back to Halas-Sternamen headquarters with the reports that the Bruins would do well to eye up the Green Baylans for the next several contests.

So the Bruin bosses unloosed the strap on their bank roll and assigned one of the scouts to camp on the Packers' trail. This he did. He saw the Bears whip Milwaukee 21 to 0 in the Badgers own back-yard while the best the Bears could do was a 10 to 7 win.

Last Sunday, the Bear "glimpse artist" hit the trail for Green Bay to see the Packers mix with the Louisville Colonels. The Bruin bosses figured this would be a dress parade for this Sunday's game and the scout was instructed to wear out several pencils taking down notes. But the Bear plans went astray. Aside from several "made to order" forward passes he didn't sniff a thing. What's more he flashed back the report that the Packers said from playing under cover all the way, kept six of the players who have been performing regularly this fall, on the side lines, evidently saving them for the combat on Sunday.

The Bears nest is expecting a battle. The players figure that a win over Green Bay will just about cinch the championship but they aren't counting their chickens before they are hatched.

GREENLEAF TAKES 7TH CUE TOURNEY

Wallops Rudolph in Final Match of 1926 Meet; Pindle Finishes 9th

Philadelphia, Pa. — (P) — The world's pocket billiard championship went to Ralph Greenleaf of New York Thursday for the seventh time. He regained the title Wednesday night after a lapse of only one year by defeating Erwin Rudolph of Chicago in the final match of the round-robin tournament in which ten of the country's leading cueists were contestants.

Greenleaf's victory over Rudolph was impressive, the taking the lead with a run of 49 in the sixth inning, the New Yorker thereafter was never seriously threatened. He made another run of 45 in the 15th inning and won the championship in the 17th with an unfiled run of 19. Third place was won by Harry Oswald, of Pittsburgh, who gave Greenleaf his only defeat of the tournament.

Arthur Penz, Philadelphia, Harold Pindle, Appleton, Wis. and Charles Harmon, Glendale, N. Y., finished eighth and ninth and tenth respectively.

George Smith, Toronto, beat Bill Strob Detroit (19).

CLEVELAND USED LEAST NUMBER OF PLAYERS IN YEAR

Indians Used Only 36 Players at Various Jobs; White Sox Rank Next

Cleveland used less players at the various positions than any club in the American League last season. The Indians' total was 36.

Next came the Chicago White Sox with 38. The Collins team employed five men at first base, a rather large quota. The Yankees used 39, 10 being pitchers. Huggins, by the way, used the smallest number of gunners.

The rather doubtful honor of cluttering up the box scores with the most names went to the St. Louis Browns. Sisker's team had a total of 52. Thirteen were pitchers, while seven cavorted in center field.

The Red Sox were second high with 51. Fohl trotted out 17 twirlers, seven right fielders and as many left fielders. Lee's club claimed one distinction, however. Phil Todd, first sacker was the only player in the circuit to play every minute of every game.

GOPHERS HAVE EDGE ON HAWKEYE GRIDMEN

In the 20 times Minnesota and Iowa have gone to the mat in football the former has won 14 games and the Hawkeyes six. One of the most hotly contested tilts waged between the two of the recent years was that in 1922, when Iowa won 28 to 14.

K. C. SQUAD STARTS SEASON WITH GRIMMS

Kimberly—While the 40 piece Cecilian band is offering selections for the approval of the crowd, Thursday the K. C. Athletics, Kimberlys 1926 State amateur champion basketball squad, will be trying to snatch a victory from the fast Grimms Booster aggregation who trailed off with the back in the opening fracas at the Clubhouse last year. Grimms has one of the speedy outfits of this part of the state including the two Logan twins who were high scorers in the Fox River Valley high school conference in 1923, playing under the colors of Manitowish high at the time. Since then they have adjourned at Beloit college besides picking up bits of basketball in their two years in professional ranks. They are about the best combination at the forward position to be found in this vicinity, and will offer the Kimberlys guards plenty of trouble. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Interest is at fever heat over the affair in the village, and with the American Legion promoting the game, a record crowd is sure to be present. Space will be reserved for the Kimberlys band, who will entertain the crowd before the game and between halves. The starting lineup for the Kimberlys team will be composed of the same squad that finished the 1925 season so well. New men will be given a chance to show their stuff as the game progresses. Williams will start at center, Boettcher and Bell at forwards with Cooke and Scheurle working at guards.

Military training will be introduced in all Turkish High and Normal schools for boys. Attendance at summer training camps will be obligatory.

Appleton Boys Continue To Shine On Cub Buck's Miami University Squad

Bleier Scores Two Markers, Courtney One, in 22-6 Win Over Mercer

Appleton's two representatives on the Miami University football team, coached by Howard "Cub" Buck of Neenah, former Badger All-American tackle and Packer football star, continue to play an important part in making the first season a great success for the Florida school. To date the Miamiams have won four games without a loss and the work of Ted Bleier and Cliff Courtney, former Appleton high and Lawrence frosh stars, have featured all the wins.

The work of Bleier featured the third straight Miami victory which was taken from Mercer by a score of 22-6, but it proved costly as the Appleton youth was placed on the sidelines by a wrenched knee which may bother him the rest of the season. Ted scored the first touchdown when he picked up a Mercer fumble early in the first quarter and raced 20 yards to the five-yard line, plunging over on the next play. Courtney kicked goal. Soon after the Miami offense got started and Ted, Cliff and Stanton carried the ball around ends and through the line for the marker, Cliff carrying it over. On the last touchdown, Courtney caught a punt and twisted his way 20 yards down the field to the 20-yard line. Bleier had been taken out for a wrenched knee, but with the ball on the 5-yard line he was called in again and forgot his injury long enough to plunge it over. After the play he again retired.

A full length picture of Bleier, one of him going around end for several yards and a third showing his executing a flying tackle, were published in the Miami paper during the last week. The latter two pictures were taken during the Miami game. Coach Buck's picture also is printed.

The Miami paper had this to say about Ted's work in the game and his injury.

"The men came out of the game in good shape with the exception of Bleier whose knee was badly wrenched. Ted showed some real football fight Saturday when he went in the game at Buck's word, crashed through center for five yards and his second touchdown of the game and then retired. All this with the wrenched knee. It is players like Bleier who make football the greatest of college sports."

PENN PROBABLY WILL MEET MAROON AT CHI

Chicago and Pennsylvania will meet on the football field in 1927 and 1928. It is quite probable both games will be played at Chicago. For the last two seasons The Maroons have journeyed to the Quakers' lair, so a pair of Penn junks to the Windy City looks certain.

MICHIGAN IS ONLY SLIGHT FAVORITE

Battle for Little Brown Jug Feature of Weekend on Big Ten Schedule

Chicago—(AP)—Two buckets and a little brown jug loomed through snow and rain Thursday to claim the spotlight in the closing action of the 1929 Western Conference football drama. The worst weather of the year failed to shut the brown demijohn out of the picture at Minnesota, where it will be on the side lines during Saturday's game with Michigan.

Michigan has carried off the traditional trophy for several seasons. Michigan is ranked only a slight favorite. Saturday battle for the jug will be the last for Captain Benny Friedman.

At Purdue, the "old oaken bucket" beckoned Indiana, hoping to retain the drive that downed Mississippi A. and M. last week to humble Purdue and gain possession of the trophy. It became the prize of their games last year but a tie left the ownership undecided. The bucket which engaged the attention of all of the Big Ten coaches, however, was the mythical container of dope through most of the season without upset, on precarious footing at the close of the year.

Prospect of cold and rain swept fields for the closing engagements of the year have added to the task of the coaches.

Iowa labored Thursday on a game designed to overthrow powerful Northwestern in the last appearance of Captain Moon Baker. Michigan and Northwestern, the two teams undefeated in conference games are fighting for tie at worst and a possible lone claim to the trophy.

At Illinois, Zuppke posted his forces against the invasion of Ohio State, when Daugherty, fullback and Captain Karow and a handful of his Ohio mates will wind up their college gridiron careers.

The game attraction at stake in the Chicago-Wisconsin game, both elevens being well down in the title fight, but both were spurred Thursday by the chance of a victory over an old rival which would make a highly successful season's end.

RICKARD MAY NOT HOLD NEXT TUNNEY STRUGGLE

New York—(AP)—The fact that Gene Tunney has no written contract to fight for Tex Rickard is regarded in boxing circles as an indication that he probably will defend his newly won heavyweight crown next summer in a battle promoted by Humbert Fugazy.

The lack of a written agreement between Tunney and Rickard has just been disclosed. Tunney, in a conference with Fugazy, expressed his willingness to fight for that promoter if satisfactory terms could be arranged.

Rickard admitted he had no more than a verbal agreement with Tunney under which the champion was to meet the winner of an elimination series this winter among leading contenders.

Fugazy will discuss the matter further with Tunney next Tuesday and the champion will explain his reasons for splitting with Rickard, Fugazy says.

Extend Power Line
The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company extended its power line from Highway 47 one half-mile south on the Haferecker-Id this week. The branch line will furnish electricity to the three families, John Kippis and John and Henry Haferecker. They used electricity for the first time on these three farms last Monday.

Berlenbach Pulls New One For Alibi Albums

Los Angeles—The defeat of Jack Dempsey by Gene Tunney was the biggest pugilistic upset of the year. A close second was the decision Johnny Risko received over Paul Berlenbach, who was then light heavyweight champion of the world. Had Risko been nursed along after that fight, he would now be a logical opponent for Tunney. The victory over Berlenbach and the fact he gave Tunney one of his hardest fights would have made him a "natural."

However, Risko was badly handled, for right after the Berlenbach win he took on the clever Stribling and was outpointed a mile, thereby losing much of his prestige.

In connection with the Risko fight, Paul Berlenbach offers the most unusual alibi in the history of the ring. Listen to him tell it:

"My modesty beat me in the Risko bout. He floored me in the first round and it took me four sessions to recover. I then proceeded to give him a pasting for the next four rounds. 'Coming out for the month, the string that held up my trunks broke. Instead of letting them fall to the floor, I put both hands on my hips to keep them up.'"

"As I did so, he whanged me on the chin and again I hit the floor. The first and nine round knock-downs won the decision for Risko. 'It taught me a lesson—to think more of my chin and less of the audience.'"

TOUGH CAMPAIGN FOR PRICE'S GOLDEN BEAR

Berkely, Calif.—University of California, for five straight seasons rated one of the outstanding elevens in the country, is experiencing a most disastrous campaign this fall.

The Golden Bears, after winning their first two games, did a complete dipsey-dive, dropping the next five in a row. Even little St. Mary's, which had been walloped annually for years, succeeded in whipping the Price aggregation.

California's big game is with Stanford here Nov. 29. A victory over Warner's proteges would help to atone for the other defeats. A Stanford demise is quite remote, however.

NO FARM PROSPERITY IF REST OF WORLD IS SLOW

Antigo—(AP)—Profits to be derived from their own business are dependent upon the profits set by other producers, Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, declared today in an address before the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association. Potato growers and other specialized producers often overlooked this fact, he said.

"Such specialized producers," said Mr. Nordman, "may at times increase their income by being more efficient than others in their line, but the average producer depends for his success upon the income and, hence, the purchasing power of other producers. There are two conditions that normally operate to establish a fair price for potatoes. One of these conditions is non-surplus production the other is sufficient purchasing power possessed by other producers to absorb the crop. General prosperity produces both of these conditions. If returns in other occupations are good the productive energies of the nation will be spread equally among all the branches of industry and agriculture. In that case there will be no excessive potato growing and there will be purchasing power to buy potatoes.

LENROOT WITNESS IN FALL-DOHENY TRIAL

Washington, D. C.—Senators Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, and Reed Smoot of Utah, are among the senators that have been subpoenaed as witnesses in the Fall-Doheny trial.

It is understood that the senators will be asked to testify as to certain evidence given at the hearing before the public lands committee.

It was Senator Lenroot who sent the telegram to Governor Parker of Louisiana at the time Fall was in Louisiana to watch every movement of the former secretary of Interior and immediately notify the senate committee if Fall made an attempt to leave the United States.

Senator Walsh, like Senator Lenroot, was prominent in digging into the Teapot Dome situation. Walsh acted as "prosecutor" for the committee.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASED IN STATE LAST MONTH

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—Employment increased in Wisconsin during October and strong demand for skilled and common labor exists, the Department of Labor announced today in a nationwide survey of industrial conditions.

Several sugar plants in Wisconsin started operations during the month, some running day and night shift. Due to the approaching end of the season and unsettled weather conditions outdoor work was rushed and consequently there was a demand for men for construction work, railroad help and farm laborers. The metal, automotive, wood working and building trades were fully employed during the month.

Practically all buildings trade men are employed in the Milwaukee industrial district. The automobile plant at Racine is working overtime. Some departments of the automobile industry at Kenosha are working on part time.

All plants are working at Superior and one ore dock is working overtime. The sugar plant at Green Bay is running day and night. Madison reported a shortage of farm hands.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

OPEN "HONOR CAMP" FOR CONVICTS IN QUARRY

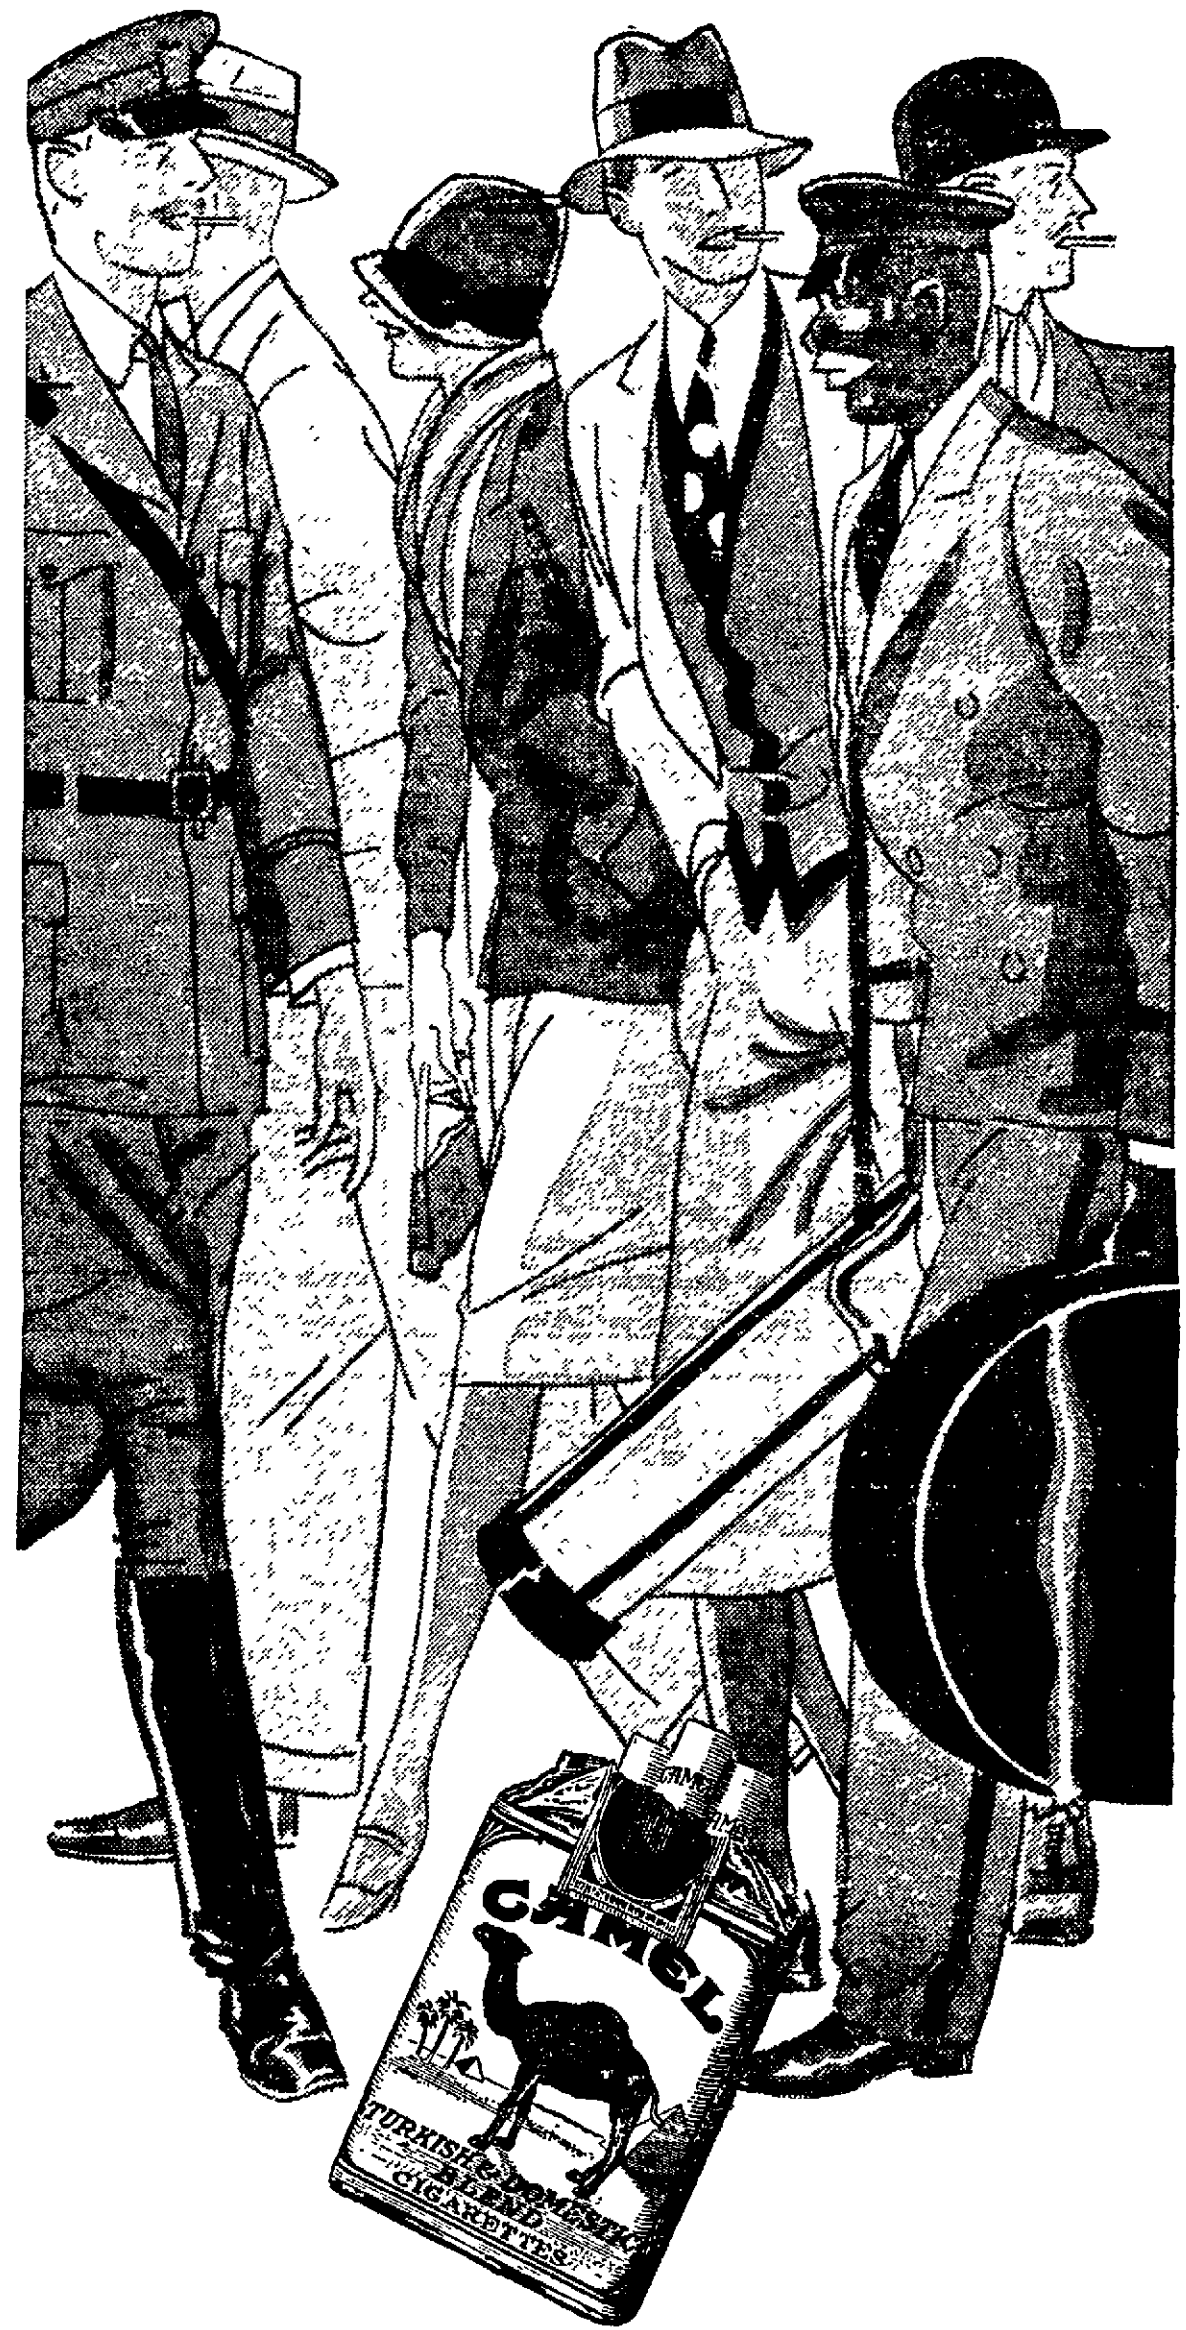

Green Bay—(AP)—Another "honor camp" has been established by the Green Bay reformatory. It was announced by Superintendent Earl H. Eklund, in the form of a granite quarry near Amberg, Wis. This camp like the many others operated by the institution will be operated by inmates of the reformatory.

Peter McTrusty, owner of the site, and foreman of operations, originally had operated the quarry himself and had sold considerable rough stone to the reformatory granite shop here for cutting and polishing. Recently an agreement was made between the quarry owner and the state and the honor camp was established. The terms of this agreement have not been announced, but it is understood to be an option to purchase, if, after a trial, the plan proves feasible.

The tract comprises about 40 acres, underlaid, so far as known, with a solid bed of fine grained gray granite, good enough for monumental use. However, Superintendent Eklund said in his announcement, it is not monumental stone in which the board of control is interested, but building stone for state institutions.

SCHOOL TRUANCY NOT BIG PROBLEM HERE, SAYS PFEIL

Work of Truant Officer Is Hampered by Lack of Cooperation from Parents

Truancy is not as great a problem in Appleton as it is in many other cities of this size, according to J. G. Pfeil, local truant officer. At present there are only 16 cases which may be taken into court if they are not settled soon, he indicated.

In most of these cases the work of the local officer is hampered because parents do not insist on their children's attendance at school, and when a checkup is made they aid their children in evading the law, he said. The boys and girls in these instances have not registered at any school, according to Mr. Pfeil, and when efforts are made to have them attend the part time school they do not comply with the law.

In an opinion from Ralph M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, he said that if a boy or girl did not attend school as is required by law it would be possible to impose a fine as punishment. If the fine was not paid the offender could be placed in jail until the account with the law was settled.

Unless the cases that are under supervision by the truant officer at present are settled amicably within a short time, these young people will be haled into court and the full penalty of the law imposed, according to Mr. Pfeil. While the condition in Appleton is not serious, it does not mean that the few cases of truancy that are present shall be allowed to pass unnoticed, he said.

During the winter there are only a few cases of truancy in which the boy or girl "skips" school for a day or a half day. In the spring and early fall absences increase materially. In about 90 per cent of all such cases, grade and junior high school boys are offenders, Mr. Pfeil said.

The greatest trouble is noticed when there is some special attraction, as world series baseball games, circuses, fairs or some other special event. Girls, as a rule, do not skip school as often as boys.

Of the present 16 cases being investigated by Mr. Pfeil, ten are those of girls and the other six of boys. All of the offenders are between the ages of 14 and 18.

SEEK $500 FOR LIBRARY EXTENSION IN COUNTY

Explaining at length that a proposal to do extension work in the county by the library of Appleton does not constitute traveling library encroachment, T. H. Ryan made a strong appeal to the county board for an appropriation of $500 to assist in the project. A resolution is before the board. The matter was referred back to the finance committee.

CITY IS PREPARED FOR SNOW STORMS

Street Department Ready to Handle Reasonable Amount of Snow on Short Notice

"The Appleton street department is ready to handle any reasonable amount of snow in short notice," according to R. F. Hackworthy, street commissioner. Streets have been cleaned, trucks have been placed in readiness, teams and men are available, snow plows, shovels and other removal equipment is in place and can be used at a moment's notice.

"Of course we are not looking for a heavy snow (all for another month)," Mr. Hackworthy said, "but no matter if it comes tonight we are ready to meet any emergency. Two of the street department trucks have been overhauled and put in good shape and the third is in process of being overhauled this week. Snow plows have been put in readiness, a good supply of shovels are handy, teams and sidewalks plows have been contracted for and are ready to serve at an hour's notice and the entire department is in readiness for the first call.

Several groups of men are busy this week cleaning catch basins of all refuse so that in the thaw in spring there will be no trouble in carrying off flood waters.

Is Your Child Thin and Weak?

Right Way to Put on Good Flesh and Make Them Grow Up Strong and Vigorous

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy, there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one-hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to insist on the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Schlicht Bros. or any druggist. Thousands of boxes sold daily. adv.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN, of the discipline committee, rules Pendleton University under strict law.

JUDITH MARTIN, a new teacher, defies the conventions by seeking as her friends, ERIC WATERS, a radical student, WILL WETHEREL, Eric's frat brother, and EYE GERHARDT, a town widow.

PROFESSOR PETER DORN of the astronomy department, admires Judith and disapproves of her acquaintances.

Judith and Eric get into many scrapes and escapades, the last of which was a moonlight hike with Eve Gerhardt's set, from which Eric was brought back drunk by "Kitty" Shea unsavory town character. Judith had been left behind by the party of hikers, and when she found Eric unconscious, was forced to accept the offer of Shea to drive them both back to town.

Distressed by the fair, Judith decides to run up to the city for the week end. At the station she meets Dean and Mrs. Timothy Brown.

The dean says his wife is going to visit relatives in a small town upstate, but Judith sees her in a city hotel with a handsome man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

The dean's wife was laughing over her shoulder at the man. Sparkling, richly gowned, she was scarcely recognizable as the little gray woman who had left Judith in the train.

Neither she, nor her companion saw the girl watching them from the next table. All their attention was fixed on each other. The man came back to his own chair and sat down, Judith could see his hand stealing across the table toward Mrs. Brown's. The woman's eyes were stary as she looked at him.

Then Judith moved in her chair, and the dean's wife caught sight of her. She did not break off in the words she was addressing to her companion, but Judith saw her face go white.

Judith ate her salad rapidly and pushed her chair back. She knew that the dean's wife followed her with horror-struck eyes as she left the dining room.

The Sunday night train to Pendleton picked up returning week-enders along the way, until it was nearly as noisy as the one that had first taken Judith to the university. But this time, the clamor was a familiar one, that embraced instead of excluding her.

Judith looked about for Mrs. Brown, but did not see her on the train. Alighting on the thronged platform at Pendleton, she ran into Eric Waters, who had also stepped from her train, bag in hand. "Hello, Judith," he said, reaching for her bag. She yielded it to him somewhat hesitatingly.

"Come on," he said to her, striding ahead. "I parked my car at the garage across the street. I'll take you home."

There was nothing to be done but follow him through the crowd. Near the front of the train, they met Dean Brown, walking up and down with his watch in his hand, and his face set in a puzzled frown.

Eric ran into him and backed away, with grinning apologies. The dean glanced at him, saw Judith, looked at the two suitcases in Eric's hands. Judith nodded a greeting, which the dean barely acknowledged.

In the car, Eric smoked a while in silence. Judith stubbornly held her tongue also. They were not going toward the Steadway house.

At last Eric threw away his cigarette. "Damn it, Judith, I apologize. I shouldn't have drunk so much on a hike, when I had a woman to take home. I suppose the others gazed you a lot."

Judith's silence was forbidding. "Come now, Jude, can't you forgive me, when I've humbled myself?" His voice did not sound humble.

"Yes," she said, "I can. I don't hold grudges. Just look out for the next time. Naturally, I don't want to be left out of the woods with 'Kitty' Shea again. So I shan't go with you any more hikes."

Eric stopped the car and turned to her. "My God! Were you left with Shea? I didn't know that."

"Exactly," said Judith, in a grim voice. "You didn't know what happened to me. And you didn't much care."

Eric was no longer debonair. "Oh! I say, Jude, that's abominable. Of course, I cared. Only, I wasn't much in condition just then—to know what happened."

"Just so," said Judith, more grimly still. Eric fell back in the seat and looked gloomily ahead.

"I suppose you came back with the crowd and one of the fellows piloted me home. That night was a total blank. I tried to get you by phone next day, to beg your pardon, and when they said you'd left town, I felt pretty rotten. That's why I ran up to the city myself. This town didn't look so good to me, in my state of mind."

"Shea?" He paused, then spoke impulsively. "I swear, Judith, I'll be ashamed of this as long as I live. I wouldn't have left you out there with him for a million dollars. You know that, don't you?"

"Eric," said Judith, bluntly, "just what do you know about Shea?"

"Enough to realize that he's no fit playmate for a little girl," he gave Judith a sheepish look. "You know it was my blamed jealousy that started the trouble. You teased me so all evening, by flirting with that popinjay, Wetherel."

Judith shook her head. "No, Eric, it wasn't that. It was your injured pride. You have to be the high chief frog in every puddle."

He threw in his clutch and shifted gears grudgingly. Nothing more was said until they were going up the Steadway steps.

"Good night," he growled. Judith went into the house and found a small boy waiting in the hall. He was gnawing at an all-day sucker.

"You Miss Martin?" he growled, shifting the sucker to one side of his mouth.

When she assented, he pulled a grimy note out of his pocket and handed it to her. "Miss Brown told me not to give it to anybody but you," he remarked. "That's why I waited."

The Horace class at two o'clock Monday marked the end of an irksome day. Judith had plodded through her classes, unable to conjure up the needed enthusiasm to make them interesting.

Eric came in for his share of her displeasure, when he was asked to translate a passage that contained three obscure gerundives. He had to relinquish it to Miss Reasey.

When the bell rang, Judith cleared her desk and made ready to leave. She had fallen into the college habit of going hatless about the town; but she had a sweater and a bright scarf.

The home of Dean Brown was in Avon place, directly west across town from College road. Judith left the campus and took the western path. Leaves were coming down at every gust of wind, and she found a childish pleasure in kicking them along the path ahead of her.

The winding road that led across the Stratmore bridge was lined with oaks and maples in full autumn panoply. Professorial houses of chaste Colonial architecture were set in quiet rows behind the elms, their green blinds carefully drawn, and their brass knockers gleaming in the afternoon sun.

The dean's house in the side street was a Tudor cottage of dark stucco and shingles, with two funeral fire trees in jars on the door posts.

The dean's wife met Judith at the door. It was good of you to come, Miss Martin. She led her way into the living room, in which a wood fire burned. Rows of books and delicate prints on the walls bespoke the grugal gentility that Judith had noticed before in the homes of teachers. A bowl of bitterness stood on the table.

Mrs. Brown motioned her guest to a deep chair by the fire. Judith saw that she was wearing a simple black dress, open at the throat. Her hair was dressed in the extreme of simplicity and her hands were ringless.

Suddenly she turned to Judith. "Let's not beat about the bush. What are you going to do about it, Miss Martin?"

"Why, I don't know what—" began Judith. But the dean's wife waved the protest aside.

"You do know what I mean. What are you going to do about it?"

"Well," replied Judith, slowly, "I don't meddle in matters that do not concern me. I hope that answers your question."

Mrs. Brown shook her head again. "This isn't Utopia. Women don't mind their own affairs. When and to please tell me the truth. When and to whom are you going to relate our meeting in Middleburg? Understand, I'm making no demands on you for anything except information. If you say you will tell, I shall make my plans. If not, I'll drop the matter."

and—try to believe you." A look of weariness crossed her white face. "You make it very hard for me to speak, Mrs. Brown. But—I meant it when I said that I do not meddle in other people's business."

The dean's wife looked at her curiously. "Perhaps you ARE telling me the truth. But I've been afraid to trust anybody. She sat clasping and unclasping her hands and staring at the fire.

"Look here, Miss Martin, I'm going to put my cards on the table. It can't do any harm now, and it may make you a little more sympathetic toward my dilemma."

"About the man in Middleburg, I'll tell you nothing." She stopped a moment. "But as for the dean—Timothy Brown is a good man. I hate him, I hate him." The words crackled in the still room.

She rose from her chair and walked in a long swinging stride across the room and back to the mantel. "You may do what you like and think what you like, I hate him and I'm glad I deceived him."

Judith stood up. "Mrs. Brown, I don't want you to tell me any more. You're sure to regret having confided in me, I'm afraid. I'm sorry for you. You need never fear that your story will go any farther."

Mrs. Brown's tense body relaxed a little. She shook her head tremulously. "No, it doesn't matter. I've almost reached the end anyway. Twelve years of it. I had to talk to someone or go mad."

Judith reached a comforting hand. "Don't despair," she said. "There are all sorts of unexpected openings and quirks of fate that let us out of holes that seem unescapable. Can't you buck up and try to fight back a little?"

Mrs. Brown had collapsed in the armchair and was sobbing convulsively. Judith stood beside her, helpless. Once she put her hand on the weeping woman's shoulder, but it was shaken off with a nervous shudder of repulsion.

The fire crackled and sparks flew up the chimney. Out in the hall, a grandfather's clock boomed five. Judith glanced at the October sunshine against the window.

"Why don't you put on your things and come for a walk with me," she said. "We'll stop in somewhere and have cocoa and muffins and forget our troubles."

Mrs. Brown dried her eyes with a bit of lace-trimmed linen. "Thank you," she said chokily. "But I can't come. The dean expects me to be at home when he arrives." She looked up at Judith, trying to smile. "I'm sorry to

FORM SCOUT CLASS TO LEARN TO SHOOT

Boys Given Opportunity to Earn Marksmanship Merit Badges

Marksmanship classes for Boy Scouts of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha, who desire the work for their marksmanship merit badges, will start this week, according to P. O. Keicher, valley executive. The first Appleton class was held at 3:40 Wednesday afternoon in Armory G and Neenah and Menasha boys will hold their first lesson at S. A. Cook armory at 3:40 Thursday afternoon.

While instruction in most merit badge subjects may be easily had, it is difficult to meet requirements for the marksmanship badge. Mr. Keicher said. Only through cooperation with the national guard companies in the three cities could the instruction be carried on. Guardsmen will work with the classes.

About 10 lessons will be given afternoons after school hours in the three cities. The classes will be held one day a week, but no definite day has been set.

As the classes are a special privilege they are planned only for merit badge scouts. First class scouts who are ready for merit badge work may have made such a scene," she said, with a hint of her normal self-contained graciousness.

Judith took her hand. "I'd like to be your friend. Will you go hiking with me some day soon?"

The dean's wife was out to reply, when a key grated loudly in the front door.

A moment later, the portiers in the wide door of the living room parted slowly, and the dean entered. "What have you done with my door mat?" he said to his wife. "Everybody will track dust over my hall carpet."

Then he saw Judith and his face arched. "How do you do, Miss Martin?" He was setting his umbrella in a corner. "I trust you and Mr. Waters enjoyed your week end trip."

enter, but will not be permitted to qualify until they have manifested their interest in advancement by taking one other merit badge. This eliminates first-class scouts who do not intend to seek merit badges but would take the marksmanship course just for the chance to shoot. Other classes will be arranged later for boys who are not ready now.

GETTING JUST A LITTLE BIT HARD

(Overheard by Mildred Cremer)
Mrs. Thompson (in a whisper)—
Come into the living room, Harry.
There's a lady salesman in there, and I've been trying to get rid of her for an hour. She wants to sell us some books for little Herbie.
Thompson—By George, I can get rid of her! What did you let her in for? Trouble with you is that you're afraid to say NO! I'll show you how to handle 'em. You've got to get a little hard, that's all.
(They enter the living room)
Saleswoman—Oh, how do you DO,
Mr. Thompson!
Thompson (gruffly)—How do you do! I'm sorry, but we don't want anything today. Good afternoon.
Saleswoman—I was just telling your wife that you have the handsomest child! And now I see the reason for it! Herbie looks just like his father, and that's why I think he should have a set of these educational books bound in leather at one hundred dollars, and—Thompson—But I—we—Saleswoman—They tell me that you are general manager of Banks & Co.
My, how wonderful! How thrilling it must be to have a position like that!
How can you EVER do it? I'm sure that little Herbie will make a big success in life, too, with such a wonderful father and a set of these educational books bound in leather at one hundred dollars—

Thompson—Well—er—Saleswoman—My! How gorgeously thrilling this is going to be! Just think! I'm going to sell a set of books
to MR. THOMPSON, the GENERAL MANAGER of Banks & Co.! Goodness!
I'll remember this as long as I live!
Now just sign here, Mr. Thompson.
Thompson—Er—you might send me
two sets. One for Herbie and one for—well, we might have another one sometime. Yes, Ma'am.

Coaches and Principals Will Meet at Green Bay Next Saturday

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—High school principals and athletic coaches of the North Eastern Wisconsin High School Athletic association will discuss inter-scholastic contests, arrange a schedule of games for the coming season and elect officers at a conference at Green Bay Saturday. New London probably will be represented by Supt. R. J. McMahon, Coach Koten and Charles Polonis.

The newly organized conference will not only concern itself with athletic but also will arrange inter-scholastic contests in football, basketball and baseball. Games will be held after a series of games of the intra-mural classification. This order of playing will give the coaches an opportunity to study the new material and select from the new players such students as will represent the standards of the schools.

Four upper classmen of the local high school remain of last year's basketball team. Two other men of the school have had experience in the game and these form an excellent nucleus of the future team.

No games have been scheduled.

BOB, ENGLISH BULL DOG, IS KILLED BY CAR

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The life of Bob, the brown English bull dog, who for three years has been the nearly inseparable companion of John Herres of his city, came to a sudden end under the wheels of a car late Tuesday evening, and with the passing of this staunch friend comes a grief to those who knew him which is most sincere.

The traits thought to be a heritage of the human being were found generously intermingled with the dog's qualities of Bob, and in his sedate mannerisms, his profound wisdom and his unwavering devotion to the man whom he loved most, most of those who knew him could learn much.

He was not a trick dog. Perhaps the greatest thing one could say of him was that he loved and was faithful. At the ring of the house phone Bob was eager and if he heard the voice of Mr. Herres speaking he would show by his joyful eagerness that he wanted to be closer to the voice which meant most to him. So Bob learned to telephone. With the received at his ear, held by a member of the family, he listened.

"Better come on down town," Bob's master would suggest. "I'm going over town pretty soon. Bob, want to come along?" and with an eagerness and promptness surprising even after repetition, Bob would start for the door. Bob knew the failings of the younger members of the family, and loved to serve as the family alarm clock when certain ones overslept.

The simple words, "go wake them up," meant the end of rest to the happy one. He was a member of the family. Nothing in the world mattered to Bob but the fortunes and affairs of these friends.

COUNCIL TO STOP PARKING OF CARS IN CITY'S ALLEYS

Instructs City Attorney to Draft Amendment to Traffic Ordinance

Promiscuous parking of automobiles in alleys again aroused the ire of the common council Wednesday night, this time to such a degree that it took action to abolish the practice in the future.

A resolution was adopted instructing the city attorney to draft an amendment to the traffic ordinance prohibiting parking of vehicles in alleys, except the vehicles engaged in loading or unloading goods for business establishments. The proposed amendment will be presented for the council's consideration at its next meeting.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council by Alderman Charles Fose who complained against the practice of parking automobiles in the city's streets all night. He stated he had received innumerable complaints against this practice within the last few weeks, and he inquired whether there was any section in the traffic ordinance covering this matter.

Attack against all-night parking precipitated another session of the traffic ordinance by Alderman Mark Catlin, who directed his remarks against the "unlimited parking of vehicles in alleys." The practice not only hampers the movement of delivery trucks, but it would be a serious handicap to the fire department if a fire breaks out in the business district, he pointed out.

His argument was upheld by George P. McGilgan, chief of the fire department.

"In case of fire in the business district, the department would be slowed up considerably," he said. "If action was taken against all-night parking on streets, according to Alfred C. Boser, city attorney, there is no section in the traffic ordinance prohibiting this practice, although if owners would conform strictly to the law, they would leave their lights turned on when their automobiles are parked after dark."

LAWRENCE AGAIN INVITES BOYS TO FOOTBALL GAME

Members of the Lawrence Booster club, which is composed of over 700 boys of Appleton under senior high school age, will meet at the college campus at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon to march to Whiting field for the Lawrence-Northwestern football game. The boys will be admitted by the tickets which they secured before the Carroll game last week and will sit in their section of the stand and root for the Lawrence squad. Boys who have lost their tickets may secure new ones by calling at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. No boy will be admitted to the field unless he meets at the campus at the set time and goes out with the group.

Pupils of the Twin Willows school presented a program of recitations, drills and dialogues at the school Friday evening. Walter Oskey was the auctioneer at a box social which followed the program, and prizes for the most attractive boxes were awarded to Mrs. Harry Kotz for the married women's entries, Miss Lorraine Turk for the young women's entries, and Miss Rosalie Kohl for the children's. Miss Phoebe Heenan, teacher, directed the program.

ELECT CAPTAINS FOR VOLLEYBALL TOURNEY

Teams for the girls volleyball tournament at Appleton high school were selected Wednesday afternoon and captains elected from the groups. Each class will be represented at the tournament which will be held Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Captains of the teams are: Miss Leone Lemburg, senior; Miss Anita Tiedt, junior; and Miss Margaret Stiel, sophomore.

SUPERVISORS GUESTS AT CHICKEN DINNER

Members of the county board were guests of the Women's Lutheran Aid Society and the Hortonville Fair association at a chicken dinner in the auditorium at Hortonville late Wednesday afternoon.

Officially, the tour was for the purpose of inspecting recently completed road work in the village where miles of new concrete and hard surface road material was used.

CASEY, STRONG FOR ACCURACY, LOCATES MISSING 60 CENTS

Supervisor Anton "Casey" Jansen found his 60 cents.

It was spent for a widely advertised brand of "kidney pills," and presumably the pills were consumed by an indigent woman.

"When general unpaid accounts, largely items of poor relief, were submitted to the county board Thursday an expenditure of 60 was among the total. $175.60 was among the total."

"Aha," said Mr. Jansen, "I recognize the $175 but I'll not vote for adoption of the report until I know for what purpose the 60 cents was expended."

True to his word Mr. Jansen was the one dissenting voice when the report came up for adoption. However, a little sleuthing on the part of the Little Chute law-maker brought to light that the woman involved needed the aid to medical science and later Mr. Jansen changed his way to an eye—and everybody was happy.

STAR MAY SOON REPLACE SHIELD OF POLICEMAN

Appleton police may soon be identified by a star instead of the shield worn on their coats.

A communication recommending this change in the official insignia of police officers was presented to the council Wednesday night by the police and fire commission and referred to the police and license committee.

The star is the true insignia of an officer, Chief of Police George T. Prim stated in explaining the communication.

His argument was upheld by George P. McGilgan, chief of the fire department.

"In case of fire in the business district, the department would be slowed up considerably," he said.

"If action was taken against all-night parking on streets, according to Alfred C. Boser, city attorney, there is no section in the traffic ordinance prohibiting this practice, although if owners would conform strictly to the law, they would leave their lights turned on when their automobiles are parked after dark."

FIRST HEAVY SNOW DRIFTS SIDE ROADS

Farmers Get Out Bob Sleighs to Haul Milk to Factories

The merry tinkle of sleigh bells was heard Thursday for the first time this fall, when several farmers hauled their morning milk to the cheese factories in bob sleighs. Snow Wednesday night covered the roads with a heavy snow that makes sleighing very good, according to the farmers.

Reports indicate that on some country roads great drifts had been formed by the heavy wind and rural mail carriers as to whether it would be possible to make their entire routes Thursday. Some of the carriers brought helpers along and several had teams in readiness, in the event that it would be impossible to get through the drifts with their cars.

On many of the rural routes the farmers have cut the weeds and thus prevented drifts. In other places where the weeds have been left standing, drifts will interfere with traffic. One farmer introduced a new method of cutting weeds when he attached a team of horses to a harrow and dragged the roadside.

COUNCIL MAY CHANGE NAME OF E. SOUTH-ST

If an ordinance amending city ordinance No. 224, which regulates the method of numbering buildings and naming streets, is adopted by the common council, E. South-st will be known as E. Irving-pl in the future.

The ordinance proposing to rename E. South-st was introduced at the council meeting Wednesday night and referred to the committee on ordinance and ordered published. There apparently is no reason why the ordinance will not meet the approval of the aldermen.

E. L. Williams, city clerk, Thursday advertised for bids for the purchase of two separate bonds of the Pierce Park Improvement Bonds and the Street Improvement bonds. The former issue will bear an interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent and the latter 6 per cent. The Pierce Park Improvement Bonds total $11,100. Bids for their purchase will be received at the office of the city clerk up to 2 o'clock Dec. 1, according to Mr. Williams.

PRISONER GLAD TO RETURN TO PRISON TO ESCAPE COLD

Half starved, with her feet frozen and her body covered with cuts and bruises, Leona Mealy Bell, sentenced here to two years at the women's reformatory at Teycheedah in January, returned Thursday to the institute from which she escaped Saturday night. The girl escaped last spring but was captured a few hours later.

Miss Bell escaped Saturday night by sliding down a bed sheet and a water pipe from a second story window and then hid in the hayloft of a barn within a mile of the institution for two days and three nights. Suffering from hunger and exposure she returned voluntarily and now is under the care of two physicians. She wore only her night clothing and her feet were bare when she escaped.

BOARD CLEARS DECK FOR FRIDAY FIGHT

Chairman Orders Afternoon Session to Prepare for Highway Matters

In order to clear the calendar for important business expected to come before the board on Friday, chairman Mike Mack, Shiocton, called an afternoon meeting Thursday.

It was thought a tremendous amount of routine business would be disposed of at the extra session, the second afternoon gathering scheduled so far at the fall meetings.

On Friday the climax of the murmurings regarding the county highway commission changes will be brought on the floor as a special order will be appointed for the following 12 der of business when the committee months period. Each incumbent has opposition with the exception of Frank Appleton, town of Oneida.

ROADS OPEN IN SPITE OF SIX INCHES OF SNOW

A snow storm which started early Wednesday evening covered Appleton and vicinity with about six inches of snow, making automobile traffic dangerous on several streets of the city. The snow failed to block traffic, however, on any of the roads of the county, though a number of cars were stalled during the night. On Lemnaw-st, two cars broke wheels due to sliding on the slippery road and on College-ave motorists had plenty of trouble backing their machines out from the curb where they had been parked.

BEGIN TEACHING NEW PENMANSHIP SYSTEM IN SCHOOLS

Teachers Hold Meeting to Learn New Method of Teaching Writing

Mrs. Doris Von Kaenel of the Laurel Book Co., of Chicago, will demonstrate the economy method of writing in the Appleton grade schools this week. A general teachers meeting was held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon for an explanation of the system and Mrs. Von Kaenel will give individual demonstrations to members of the writing committees of the grades.

When the system has been established in the grades taught by committee, other teachers in the city will be instructed. Members of the committee are the Misses Margaret Comerford, Frances Lindsey, Venice Fellows, Gladys Burns, and Emma Schwandt and Mrs. Ewald Elias.
An outline of suggestions has been made by the committee and was presented to Mrs. Von Kaenel prior to her demonstrations. Some of these pertain to a definite writing period
each day, the use of the same pedagogical principles in teaching other subjects, the encouragement of writing with fountain pens provided the pens
are adapted to the hand and writing of the child, and fitting pens to the hands of children who do not have fountain pens. These were worked out after a careful study of writing manuals and other material pertinent to the economy system and will be used in conjunction with the suggestions offered by Mrs. Von Kaenel.

PHONE EMPLOYEES SHOW HOW SERVICE CAN BE IMPROVED

Demonstration Switchboard
Used to Illustrate Proper Way to Use Phone

Talk directly into the mouthpiece, always be sure of your number, and talk in a quiet distinct voice and your telephone service will be better. That much was learned from the switchboard demonstration conducted by the Wisconsin Telephone company at the Kiwanis club luncheon Wednesday noon.

The demonstration board is a replica of a switch board in the local office. In a short address before the pantomime showing the reasons why sometimes telephone service fails, Miss Eunice Bloomer, an operator at the local office explained what takes place when a call is placed. She showed how an operator can place a call anywhere in Appleton within a few seconds and she illustrated the method of locating numbers.

Miss Bloomer explained some of the reasons for wrong numbers, and for ringing of a phone when there is no one calling and she showed that in nearly all of the cases it is the patron who is in the wrong, but he seldom admits it. Following Miss Bloomer's address a short pantomime was given by Miss Bloomer as the telephone operator, Miss Catherine Killgren, and Miss Strelgel, operators at the local office. Thomas Murphy, commercial agent, and Clarence Richter, switchman. The pantomime illustrated some of the improper methods of using the telephone. Miss Esther Sullivan, district instructor, trained the girls for their parts. Mrs. Nina Turton, chief operator at the local office, also assisted in the demonstration.

F. N. Belanger, acting manager of the Appleton district gave a short introductionary address in which he stressed that the telephone company was here to give Appleton service. "Service to the public comes before personal motives in the mind of the telephone company," Mr. Belanger said. He said the telephone company employs 150 persons in Appleton and invited the Kiwanis club to visit the local exchange at any time.

COUNTY FARMER RAISES STRANGE BREED OF DUCKS

Three Muscovy ducks, rarely seen in this vicinity, are on display at the Hopfensperger meat market, 418 W.
College-ave. The ducks were raised by W. C. Schroeder, R. R. 3, Appleton, who procured his original stock from a poultry farm in Iowa.

These ducks were originally found in South America and were domesticated by Russian and Ger. n farmers.
Muscovy ducks are quite common in those countries. The ducks have glossy white and black feathers on the head and part way on the neck, blue and black feathers on the back and green and black feathers on the wing.
They are larger than the common duck. The male weighs about ten pounds and the female from six to eight pounds.
